Village adds 8,000 acre plan

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The proposed expansion of the Village of Antioch's Comprehensive Plan was completed when the village board approved the East Sub-Area Plan as an amendment.

The comprehensive plan now includes an additional 8,000 acres, bounded on the west by Deep Lake Rd.; on the south by the Antioch Twp. line; on the east by Crawford Rd. and on the north by State Line Rd.

The village has already annexed 1,000 of the acres included in the East Sub-Area. The other 7,000 acres were included in the plan recommended by the plan commission after consulting with Planning Resources. This followed recommendations that the comprehensive plan should include land within one mile and a half of the village limits.

Developer of the Tiffany Ct. townhomes, Joe Babat, spent the bulk of the village board meeting trying to convince the village board to make the designs of his townhomes, located on Tiffany Rd., next to the Landmark Restaurant, an exception to the village ordinance requiring multiple (Continued on page 6)

Antioch's Easter Parade plans marching forward

With Easter fast approaching, Theresa Weber and the Antioch Parks Dept. are busy putting together the annual Easter Parade, scheduled this year for Saturday, April 7, at 10:15 a.m.

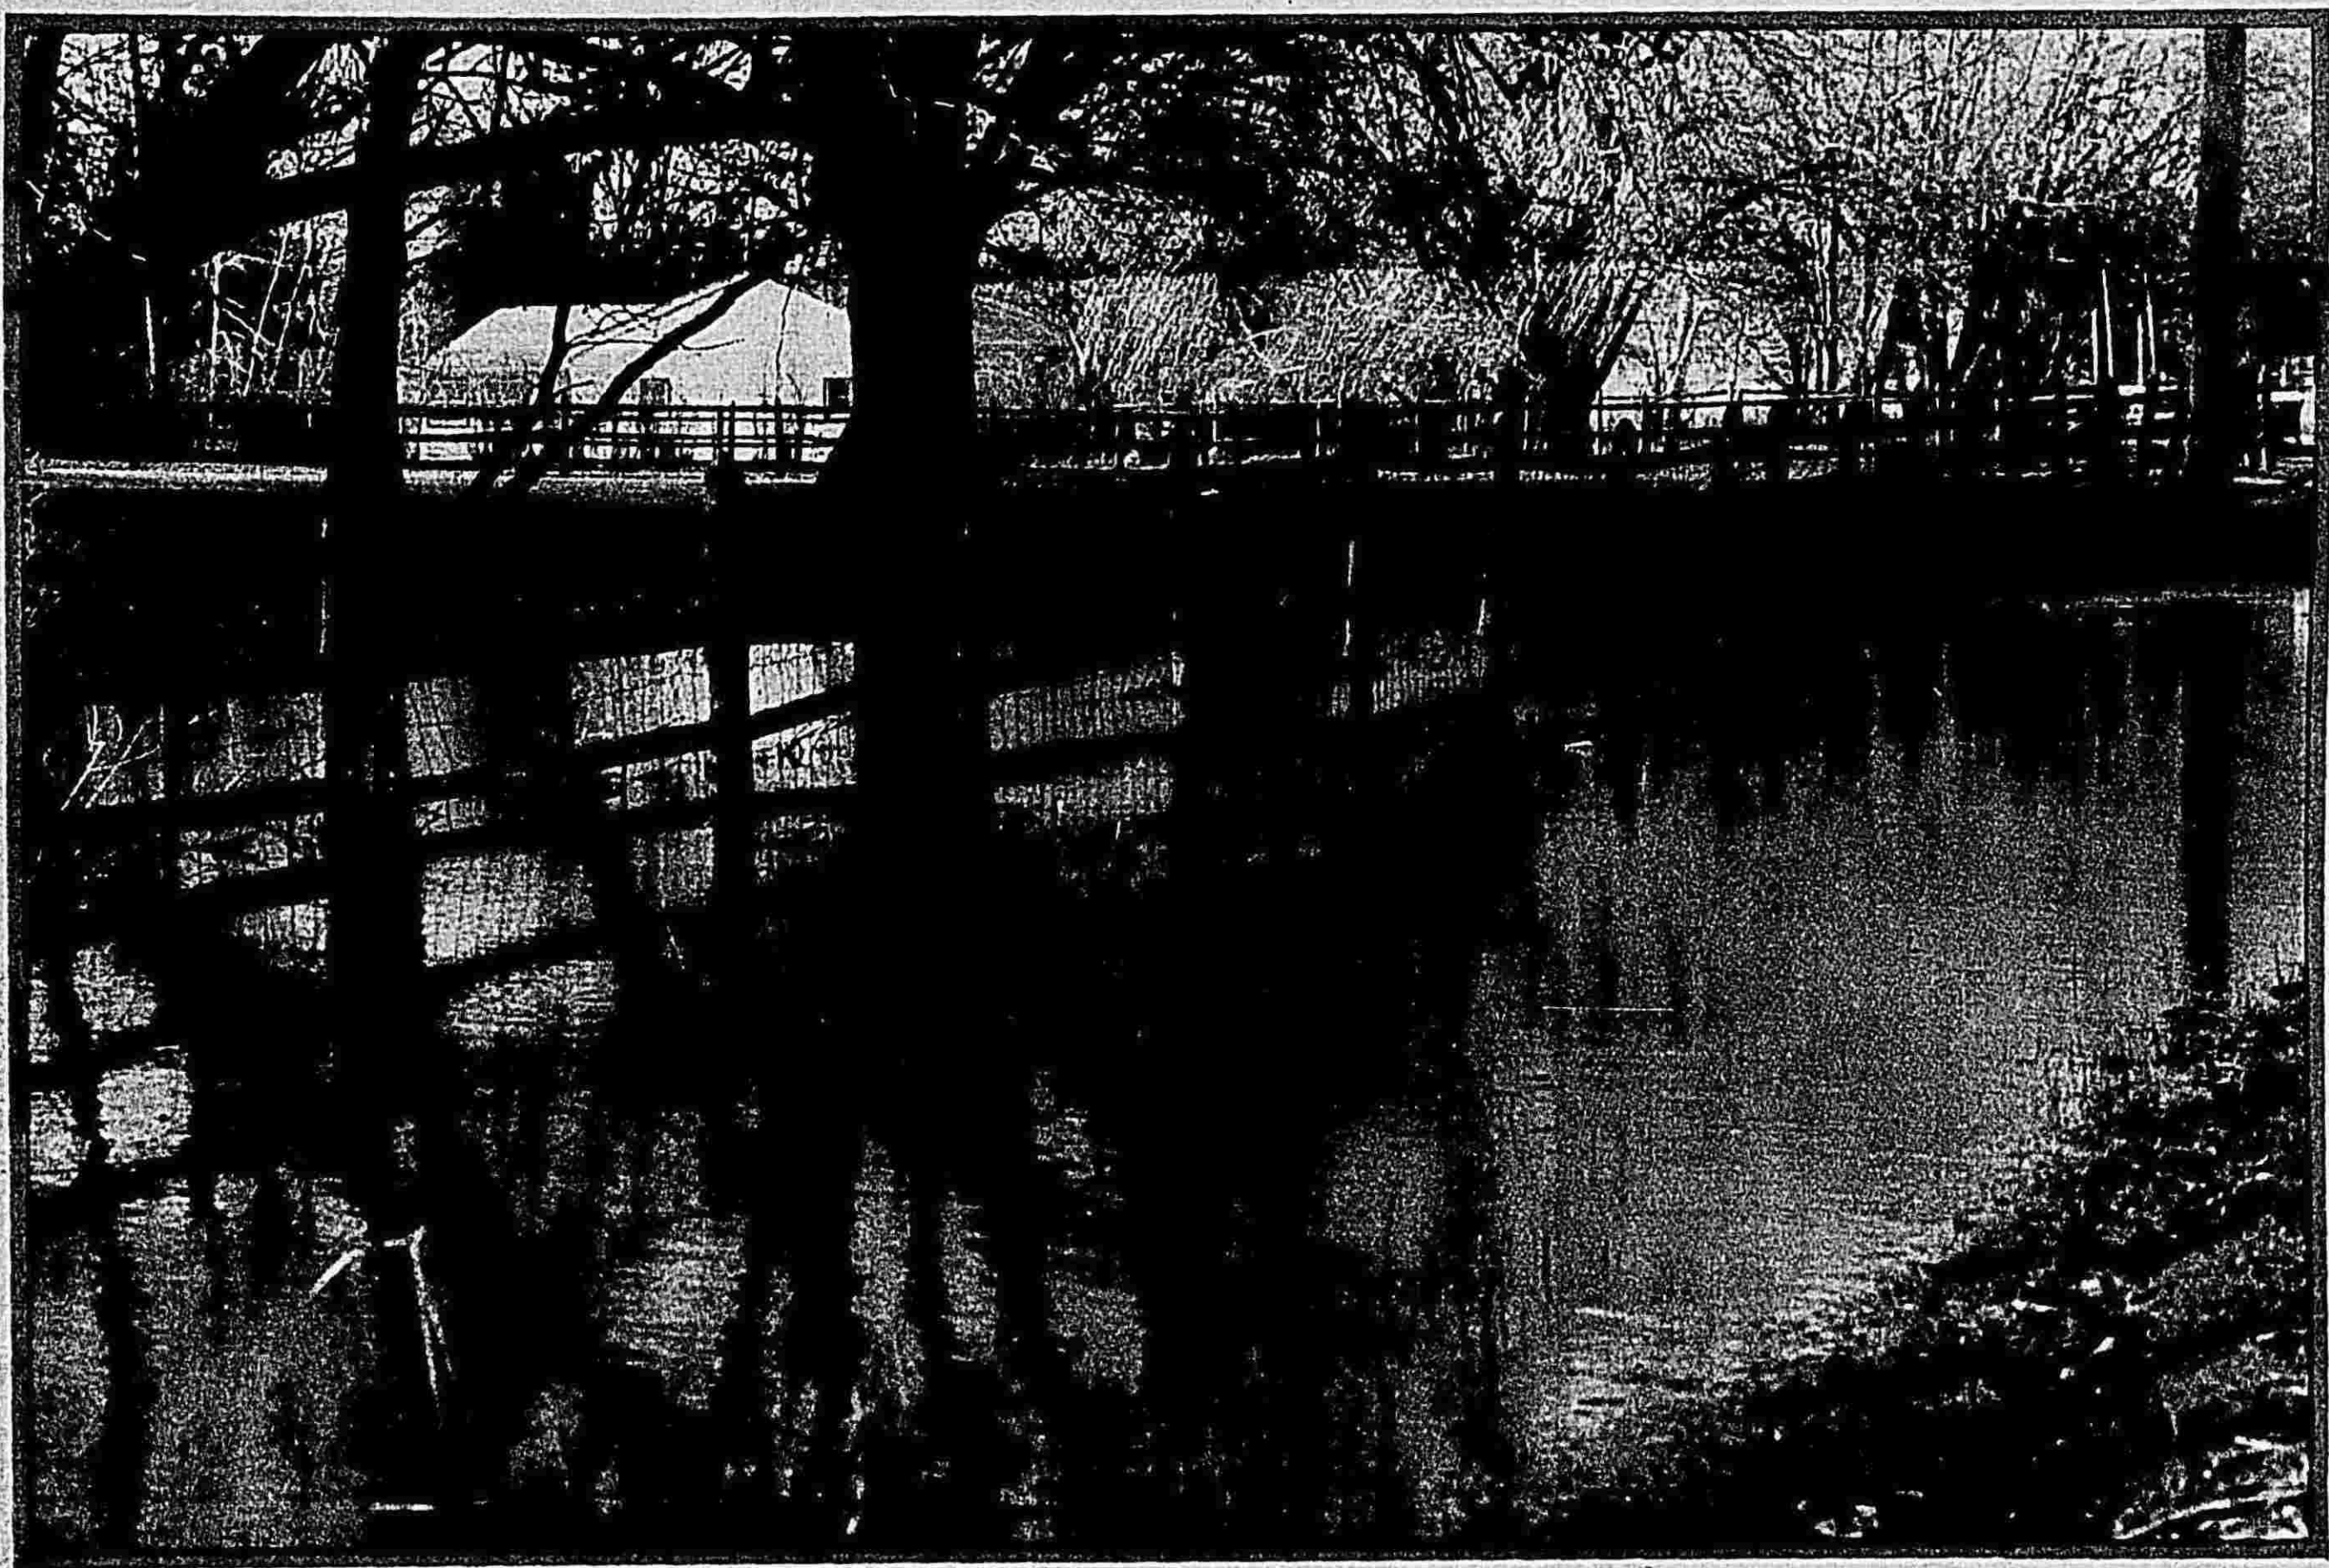

Community organizations, clubs, schools and individuals are urged to participate. Parade entry forms are available at the village hall on Main St.

Parade units will begin to assemble in the parking lot of Antioch High School and march down Main St., ending at the water tower parking lot with a candy hunt for the children.

Scenic side of spring

Melting snow and early spring rains combine to form a temporary reflective pool. This week's feature photo proves that spring here is not all slush, mud and grey skies. Soon to follow are first buds and bellwether blossoms, proof that Mother Nature hasn't forgotten what time of year it is. —Photo by Dan Gudgeon Jr.

Bay project altered, objectors charge

A group of environmentalist has charged that developers of a home and marina project on the Chain O' Lakes have misstated the size in applications to the Army Corps of Engineers and other agencies including the Ill. Dept. of Conservation.

Calling for a reopening of the permitting process on Lac Louette adjacent to Pistakee Bay in McHenry County, members of Lac Louette Preservation, Inc., said the project now includes twice as many boat slips as originally stated.

"The project drastically has been altered," stated Paul Schmidt, attorney for the organization in a letter to Mark Frech

PHILIP M. CRANE
of DOC.

The proposed development, Bay Oaks, would include 108 homes and a 120 slip marina on a small lake in Lakemoor, just west of the Lake-McHenry county line. Developer Joseph Buralli of McHenry offered to donate about 112 acres of wetlands for open space. Buralli is seeking Army Corps permission to dredge 2 1/2 acres of wetland to gain access to Pistakee Lake where Rte. 134 crosses a marshy area at the end of Pistakee Bay, a residential area of large homes.

Controversy over the project took on a partisan political tone when opponents accused Congressman Philip M. Crane (R-12th) who has invested in a Bay Oaks home site, of intervening on behalf of Buralli in the permitting process.

Staff aides denied the accusations, pointing out that Crane is considering building a home in Bay Oaks if redistricting cuts his Mount Prospect home out of the 12th Dist.

Schmidt informed DOC that the Bay Oaks petition lists only four adjacent property owners when in reality there are 40 adjacent property owners. "There is shocking disregard for notice to adjacent property owners," Schmidt declared.

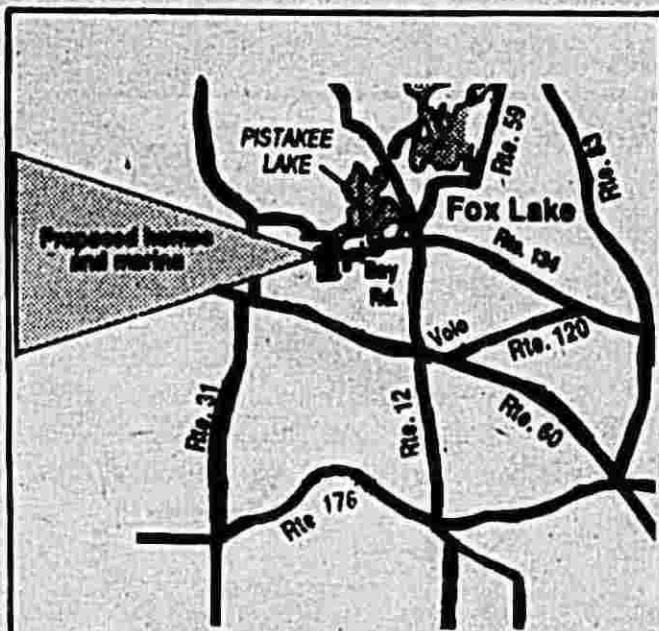

The Army Corps should be compelled to reopen hearings, Schmidt asserted.

Schmidt said he found DOC to be indifferent to drastic changes in the project and "casually indifferent" to Army Corps guidelines.

Environmental and watchdog organizations involved also include McHenry County Defenders, Chain O' Lakes Water Assn., Chain O' Lakes-Fox River Water Management Agency, Issac Walton League and McHenry County Preservationists.

Although Crane asserted that he has "bent over backwards" to avoid participation in the permitting process, objectors said it would be difficult for the Army Corps to ignore Crane's involvement.

Earlier this year, the Army Corps rejected a multi-use development project on the Fox River south of McHenry that included a 512 slip marina on the grounds that it would cause environmental harm.

Petty digs channel for wildlife

Paul Petty, Antioch, has applied for state certification from the Ill. Environmental Protection Agency for the installation of a water control device (spillway) at 26079 W. Grass Lake Rd. on wetlands near Petite Lake.

Petty has also asked for after-the-fact permission to excavate approximately three-quarters of an acre, 20 inches deep, in the existing wetland for the purpose of gathering water for the observation of waterfowl.

At present, Petty has already finished dredging a channel in the wetlands for this project but the spillway was not in place as of a last report from the Army Corps of Engineers, Chicago Dist.

According to the corps, Petty has sidestepped the dredged material into the wetlands adjacent to the new channel.

The northern wetland, adjacent to Grass Lake Rd., is classified as a palustrine emergent wetland with a semi-permanent water regime. Both wetlands drain into Petite Lake.

At press time, this newspaper had called Petty several times and, being greeted by an answering machine, left messages. None have been returned.

If the EPA issues a state certification on the project, it will express the agency's opinion that the proposed activities will not violate applicable water quality standards in keeping with the Clean Water Act.

Since Petty's project involves dumping material dug-up from the channel into waters of the United States, the evaluation of the corps of the impact of the activity on the public interest will include the application of guidelines authored by the head of the EPA under the Clean Water Act.

Any interested parties and agencies entertaining objections to, or desiring to express their views concerning the work, must do so by filing their comments in writing no later than March 27.

A lack of response will be interpreted that there are no objections to Petty's project.

Anyone requesting a public hearing on the subject must state their reasons for doing so.

Such requests should be sent to Dist. Engineer Regulatory Functions Branch, 111 N. Canal St., Chicago, Ill. 60606-7206.

Call Michael Flynn, regulatory functions branch, (312)353-8213 for more information.

Scholarships

The State Bank of Antioch has established a competitive scholarship program for June graduates of Antioch Community High School who plan to enter the College of Lake County as freshmen in the fall of 1990. This scholarship will be awarded annually to allow students to study at the College of Lake County. Scholarship recipients will be eligible to renew the scholarship for a second year of study. The scholarship will cover tuition, fees and books. Application forms for this scholarship are available in the College-Career Center at ACHS. Completed applications must be returned by April 12. Applicants may be required to interview with the scholarship selection committee, consisting of staff members from Antioch Community High School.

Ready for college

Application forms for the Antioch Community High School Local Scholarship Program are currently available in the school's College-Career Center. This program is designed to assist graduates of ACHS in continuing their formal education beyond high school. Last year this program provided approximately $13,000 to students who enrolled at either a two-year community college or a four-year college or university. Scholarship amounts and awards vary according to the particular funding agency. Some scholarships will be restricted to students planning to enter a four-year college.

ACHS suspensions switch to Saturdays

Bad news for Antioch High School students that didn't mind being suspended because it got them out of school for awhile!

The Antioch High School Board of Education has approved a Saturday Alternative Suspension Program.

This means that, in certain situations where a student is suspended, parents can ask that the student attend a program on Saturday mornings in place of the suspension.

The board also heard a report from Jim Hintz, chairman of the school's Growth and Development Advisory Committee, which was formed to study growth impact on the school and make recommendations on the study's results.

Hintz told the board that the 25-member committee had been divided into five subgroups, with five members each, one to study present facilities, another curriculum, another finance, one to gather area demographics and a fifth to look at re-districting options.

In other business, the board:

— set a date for this year's senior graduation at 2 p.m. on Sunday, June 3.

— approved the filing of the Summer Capt. 1 Reading Program in the amount of $34,000. This program will be supplying instructions to 50 incoming freshmen in reading, writing, speech, and listening skills.

— was told by Supt. Gary Allen that a 75th Anniversary Ice Cream Social has been planned for Sunday, May 20, at which time a time capsule concerning the school will be buried. The public is invited to attend.

In final moves, the board re-appointed Business Mgr. Ken Wierschem to the position of school treasurer; appointed Principal Art Blecke to represent the school in the Ill. High School Assn., membership in which has been renewed.

unit commercial buildings to have eight feet of brick from the foundation line upwards.

Babat invited the board to "take a look at my buildings," extolling their aesthetic value.

Trustee Don Amundsen quoted the eight-foot ordinance repeatedly, saying that it had been instituted to insure that commercial buildings would retain their attractiveness for years.

After much board action referring requests to them, the zoning and plan commission are being kept busy considering rezoning requests included in the Bedame and Pedersen Marine petitions, the Regency II preliminary plan variation and the Morgan/Gelden concept plan.

The Zoning Classification Review

Committee will meet at 7 p.m., on Tuesday, March 27.

In other business the board:

— heard a commendation of the Antioch Police Dept. and Lt. Tom Fisher and Officer Michael Culat by the Kenosha County Sheriff's Dept. for aid in a theft case.

— hired James Weber for the street department at $8.62 per hour and Joe Garber as a draftsman at the rate of $4.50 per hour.

— considered a surface water problem on North Ave. caused by a runoff from the Regal China parking lot that affects five homes. Joe Hueber, streets department head, said that he was working with the county to get a storm sewer run about 700 feet up North Ave. at a cost of $25-30,000 to alleviate the problem.

Osmond loses to Kitto, 92-73, Schultz whips Priller, 89-43

There were only two precinct committeeman races in the Antioch area in Tuesday's election.

In Precinct 8, Raymond Schultz won over Patrick Priller, 89-43.

The big upset came in Precinct 9 where incumbent Joanne Osmond bowed to Paul Kitto, 92-73.

According to Osmond, who says she will remain on the local political scene despite her loss, Kitto's win came because of his strong campaign against a marina being built by Spencer Askfeldt on Petite Lake.

Kitto is one of the many neighbors opposing Askfeldt's project which is now in the courts.

"He thinks a precinct committeeman can do something about the marina. He's wrong," says Osmond.

Foerster's celebrate 30th wedding anniversary

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708)395-5380

Boy, am I hard on you people. I just finished reading last week's column in which I reprimanded you for not calling the Lizard with enough tidbits. Needless to say, you responded to my plea for Santimmo, and Jessica Stella. Seventh graders: Beth Boerman, Angela Burke, Heather Burke, Rhonda Garwood, Brandie Houle, Michelle Kocal, Jenny Laube, and Selena Plattner. Sixth grader: Kelley Brausam. Good work ladies!

Gavlin. Ninety-four junior high students participated in the fair and the gym was packed with many interested spectators as they viewed the various well thought out projects. The first place "Best in Fair" ribbon was awarded to Jeff Gembara and Lane Summers for their project on paper chromatography. William O'Donnell and Corey Misch received the second place award for their project concerning metal concentration in the Chain O'Lakes. The title of their project was "What lurks in the lakes." Jenny Kocal and Ali Arnold walked away with the third place "Best in Fair" and are happy to report they are back home where they belong. Their project showed the differences in family living and they actually traded families for a period of time in order to gather their information first hand. The rest of the projects were rated superior, excellent, and noteworthy. Each classroom in the grades kindergarten through fifth, entered a class project to be on display. The science fair is designed to see how well students apply a scientific method to solve various problems. "Growing Up Well"

The fifth grade class at Grass Lake School just completed a five week course in the "Growing Up Well" program. The volunteer presenters, Ted Gavlin and Marie Brausam, would like to thank each and every fifth grader for their cooperation, enthusiasm, and the way the welcomed them into their classroom each week. The children learned about choices, peer pressure, the affects of alcohol abuse, and about how to use their power to say no. At the end of the five weeks the students were asked to make a poster depicting what they had learned in the program. The children judged the posters and the top five winners were Danny Jorudd, Cindy Jones, Charlie Spencer, Jason Rosser, and Bobby York. They each received a first place blue ribbon for doing such an excellent job. All students received a certificate verifying that they all learned they each possess the power to make healthy choices. All posters are on display on the bulletin board outside the fifth grade classroom. If you are in Grass Lake School in the near future, take a moment to glance over the posters and discover what a great job all the students did in expression what they learned from the program.

Live Theatre

Once again, it is live theatre time in Antioch. Rehearsals are in full swing for "Dial M for Murder." PM&L Theatre's next production, written by Frederick Knott and directed by Mickey Mandel. This spine-chilling suspense thriller was later adapted into the famous Alfred Hitchcock movie starring Ray Milland and Grace Kelly. The scheduled show dates are March 30, 31 and April 6, 7, 13 and 14 at 8 p.m. There will be performances on April 1 and 8 at 2:30 p.m. An interpretive performance for the hearing impaired will be presented on April 7 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for students and senior citizens. For further information or reservations call (708)395-3055 news and once again I have many things to share with you. Ahhh, the Lizard is content at last.

30th Anniversary

I will start the column off with a belated anniversary wish to James and Gloria Foerster of Antioch. Jim and Gloria celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on Feb. 20. About 45 family members and friends gathered at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Debbie Foerster, to help them celebrate this happy event in style. Everyone enjoyed a delicious meal and Jim and Gloria loved all the beautiful gifts they received. Congratulations to you both.

Cheerleaders

The Grass Lake School cheerleaders entered their first cheerleading competition and made an excellent showing. Under the leadership of coaches Sharon Jones and Robin Gwinn, the girls practiced and re-practiced their various routines in order to be ready to enter the third annual Cystic Fibrosis Cheerleading Competition on March 3. Although the GLS squad did not win the competition they enjoyed the experience and feel good about all the hard work and effort they put forth to compete. The coaches were very proud of them and I would like to congratulate all of them. Eighth graders: Missy Cole, Alicia Corcoran, Angie Grob, Jenny Kocal, Jenny

'Powers of God'

Mary Keating will be the April 5 speaker at the monthly meeting of the Antioch Chapter Women's Aglow Fellowship. Mary will be speaking about the "Powers of God." Mary has served as president of the DeKalb Aglow. The meeting will be held in the Community Room of the Antioch State Bank at 7:30 p.m. The doors will open at 7:15 p.m. and the fee is $1.50.

Dog Training

The Grayslake Cooperative Extension Service will be offering a 4-H dog training program. Youth and their dogs are invited to participate in classes beginning in April. Youths between eight and 19 years old are eligible. It is a 12-week course and is free of charge. The classes will be held at the Lake County Fairgrounds on Monday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. There will be an orientation meeting at the farm bureau auditorium on April 2. Dogs do not attend this first meeting. At the conclusion of the 12-week course, participants will be able to enter the July 14 "dog show." Dogs should be at least six months old and must have the required inoculations for rabies and DHL. To register for these classes call (708)223-8629.

Local disposal

A public policy requiring that garbage be disposed of "at home" might hasten the day when there will be a consensus on solid waste disposal. As long as governments can ship refuse to other areas for disposal there will be confusion and uncertainty in formulating workable solid waste disposal plans. "Exporting" garbage is like sweeping the problem under the rug.

Wisconsin has been debating a bill that allows out-of-state firms to dump trash in Wisconsin if their home states have "comparable" recycling rules. The logic of the bill has been criticized as being so murky that adoption would invite a flood of imported garbage, especially from Illinois.

A substantial amount of waste from Lake County already is being dumped at a site in central Kenosha County. At the same time we "import" trash from other areas, principally McHenry County. Banning all out-of-state trash would be unconstitutional so Wisconsin appears to be stuck with burying our junk.

DuPage County is the classic example of fretting and stewing over the solid waste disposal issue. Politicians there have studied the problem for six years and spent $4.5 million and they still don't have a plan. At least we have a plan. DuPage also is debating whether to continue accepting out-of-county garbage. While DuPage continues to accept garbage from Chicago, the suggestion has been aired to bale DuPage garbage at a transfer station and put it a train bound for a downstate landfill. Sounds pretty silly, doesn't it.

Prohibition of trash for disposal elsewhere would force both officialdom and the public to face up to its responsibilities. The problem is created locally so solve it locally.

In a sense, Illinois and U.S. Environmental Protection Agencies have adopted policies that tend to create confusion. As priority disposal methods, they give preference to waste reduction and recycling. The trouble with this policy is that it doesn't solve anything. The agencies regard energy-producing incineration, non-energy-producing incineration and landfilling, in that order, as other acceptable methods.

We think giving incineration a higher priority will both contribute to a faster solid waste disposal solution while encouraging "at home" disposal. As we were saying, waste is created locally; it should be disposed of locally.

Organize for people

Editor:
As I read about the reward money donated by local action groups and the involvement of concerned citizens over the senseless deaths of 50 ducks on the snowmobile trail, it occurred to me that what we need is a person like Maggie Arsexeau, to organize a similar action committee to patrol our waterways during the summer boating season.

There is a parallel to be drawn here, between the "abusing, uncaring, nuisance people" on snowmobiles who kill unsuspecting ducks in the winter time, and the "abusive, thoughtless, destructive drunk boaters" in high speed, high tech boats, that kill unsuspecting people in the summer time.

Surely, there are enough benevolent, understanding people who care about the safety of boaters in the summer time, as much as they do about the safety of ducks in the winter time.

If people care enough to donate $500 for the arrest and conviction of duck terrorists, maybe they would consider donating their time and money to help catch drunk and drugged boaters before they terrorize law abiding, water sport enthusiasts, and maybe they can prevent another crash like the one that occurred during the summer of 1986, the year of the "worst boating crash in the history of the Chain O'Lakes," in which five people were senselessly killed.

Present hospitals adequate

Editor:
Your article entitled "Area hospitals give Charter cold shoulder" misrepresented my comments to the Gurnee Plan Commission regarding Charter Medical's proposal to build a psychiatric hospital in Gurnee.

As I listened to Charter's presentation I became increasingly unhappy because they did not produce convincing evidence that their proposed service is either lacking (on the one hand) or so highly utilized that another facility must be built in Lake County. I tried to emphasize at the meeting that hospitals must offer a variety of health services in order to survive financially and if Gurnee allows a for-profit company, such as Charter, to fractionalize a specialty such as psychiatry (which is nearly always fully reimbursable by the health insurance industry) then the effect on area hospitals will be negative.

I only mentioned St. Therese medical Center's name because it is near to my heart in many ways, and I do not want to see it negatively affected by Charter's presence in this area. To single out St. Therese as being "financially strapped" was a misquote and unfair. All hospitals (and I did mention others in this area) are courageously dealing with under-funding from government and reductions in insurance company payments. Government officials (whether city or regional) should find the courage to ensure that area hospitals' services are not adversely affected by unnecessary and unwelcome competition.

The "nail in the coffin lid" comment was intended for the hospital industry in general. The mayor of Gurnee, its village board and Plan Commission should realize that managed growth is the best policy and that they should not roll out the welcome mat to businesses such as Charter's because it will adversely affect our community's health care industry. I anticipate that the state approval, "Certificate of Need", will most certainly be denied to this proposed facility because these services are already competently provided by existing facilities.

Three pointer spells new era in basketball

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

If anything, the NCAA basketball tournament heading into the Final Four is proving that the three point shot has become an undeniable weapon in modern basketball. As is so typical, the smaller schools appreciated three point strategy before the big time powers. Hurray for the Coppin States, Ball States, Loyola Marymounts, Xaviers and Dayton of the world.

What is so wonderful about the emerging three point strategy is that it is the essence of basketball--shooting and scoring. The three pointer is making the game easier to understand. Fans love it. So do the players. When a team is scoring in three point increments, it takes 50 percent less effort. Put it the other way. It takes 50 percent more effort to keep up for the team that relies on conventional two point baskets.

Now that the three pointer no longer is a gimmick or an adjunct weapon, watch for the game of basketball to transform much like the game changed five or six years ago when bench strength and role players became a big factor or a decade ago when inside play and rebounding prowess was identified as the key to winning and before that, in the middle 70's, when the emphasis was put on physical giants, the seven footers or near seven footers who transformed the game. Notice how every five or six years seems to bring about a dramatic change. Purists might so back even further to mark evolutions.

Look closely, you'll notice that the three point strategy, which makes rebounding almost redundant, already is influencing basketball. You don't have to be tall, acrobatic, particularly strong, fast or have springs in your legs. Three point shooters obviously have to be accurate. Accuracy can be taught and learned. Putting up the bomb requires timing and daring besides plenty of practice.

Look for the three point arc to be pushed back about 1995 or sooner--when the next innovation in basketball is sure to make itself evident.

CONVENIENCE—Mundelein

Trustee Pat Wilson has advanced an idea worth consideration: scheduling village board meetings at places more convenient to the public. He could have added times. Wilson was responding to complaints about Mundelein's council room being

The school board voted 4-3 to allow the superintendent to take an early retirement and to sit at home for six months as a consultant for $58,000 plus. Round Lake School Dist. 116 is too heavy in administration now.

There are three new school board members who are trying to do what is right for the kids of Round Lake only to be voted down by the old board members.

Board President David Adler even made the statement at the February board meeting that maybe he doesn't represent us at all. Then why is he wasting the board's time and the taxpayers time by being there at all? If he feels that way, I think he should step down and let someone who cares about our kids take his place.

When a friend of mind showed me a spelling test that his child had taken at school and the paper had been torn in half to be shared with another student, it made me wonder. Where have all the dollars gone?

cramped and reachable by only a narrow stairway to the second floor.

What's wrong with taking public meeting's to the public? Sounds like a good idea.

Grayslake meets on a second floor. Lake Zurich meets in the below-ground chambers that are served by an elevator. Round Lake Park has such tight quarters that the audience spills out to a porch at well attended meetings. There are other villages with less than ideal meeting places as far as the public is concerned.

What about changing meeting dates when the stated time and place might not be accessible to all? It can be done.

AVERTING MUTINY—Little by little details of the bad feelings and unrest at top levels of management at Abbott Laboratories are unfolding. The facts are that many persons at top and middle management levels were so disenchanted with Chairman Robert A. Schoellhorn that there was a threat of mass resignation last summer. Directors acted after the first of the year to strip Schoellhorn of his power to prevent what amounted to a mutiny that would have been devastating to the company. Schoellhorn's withdrawal from day-to-day operations coupled with his abuse of subordinates was at the root of the alienation.

BLAMING GOP—Atty. Gen. Neil F. Hartigan, who won the Democratic nomination for governor unopposed in Tuesday's primary, leveled some charges against Republicans that were all but lost in campaign hubbub.

Hartigan laid the death of his proposal to create a state-wide grand jury to hit at profiteering in drug dealing at the feet of GOP leadership in the General Assembly. "The word went out to kill the bill so I wouldn't have an issue in the general election," Hartigan declared.

Forfeiture of profits has to be a key part of efforts to arrest the influence of drugs, in Hartigan's opinion. That's what the state grand jury would have been empowered to address. If Hartigan can make the charge stick, he's sure to have a red hot issue campaign issue. We'll hear more about this in the weeks and months to come.

OFF THE WALL

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

To say there is turmoil and dissension in the Lake Zurich Rural Fire Protection Dist. is putting it mildly. District President Dennis Abbott is running around the countryside picking potential sites for new fire stations (one outside the district), all to the consternation of residents and taxpayers.

State Rep. William Peterson (R-Prairie View) has heard about this at meetings and by telephone. All of which has promoted him to draft two bills for the current session of the Legislature.

One will require a referendum before fire districts can construct buildings outside their service area.

The second will provide for recall of fire protection district members via petitions signed by 5 percent of the electorate. Right now the three-year appointees are insulated from this, even the county board that appoints them.

Maybe there won't be any need for the legislation after next spring. Abbott's first term will expire at that time. Unless his sponsors—County Board members Bruce Hansen and John Reindl—are around Abbott won't be.

For laughter it's hard to beat the Comedy Club. Where's it at?

The Mundelein Village Hall. When? Every Monday night starting at 8 p.m.

This cast of seven doesn't take itself too seriously. Almost every item on the agenda is cause for a joke and, often, raucous laughter. It's a laugh-a-minute meeting.

Making much of it happen is the court jester, sometimes known as Trustee Patrick Wilson. Presiding over it all is Madam Pompadour, better known as Mayor Marilyn Sindles. (Both are titles of endeavorment by village board watchers.)

Robert Neal, chairman of the Lake County Republican Party, is a good man to know for those looking for a job. He knows who to see and when.

Neal is a living example of the patronage he practices.

First he is Gov. Jim Thompson's appointee on the Illinois Tollway Authority, which doesn't pay too shabbily.

Neal's wife is employed at the Wadsworth Post Office. One of his daughters is the secretary for a Neal appointee, James LaBelle, director of the state's new North Point Marina in Zion. Another daughter is a security guard at the marina.

There are many similarities between two candidates for precinct committeemen in Newport Twp. earlier this week.

Robert Neal, the incumbent, has been forced for the first time to spend money on an election campaign. That's because he had some stiff election-day competition. Neal, as everyone knows, is chairman of the Republican party in Lake County. He also is president of his own company, Able Electronics. For a hobby, Neal puts on a Navy uniform and goes off to reserve meetings. He's good enough to be a lieutenant.

Causing Neal some problems in the March 20 election was challenger, Charles Nordigan. He, too, has his own electronics firm, of sorts, in Waukegan. It is Norstan Inc., a manufacturer of engine ignition points. For his uniform, Nordigan puts on a kimono and practices the martial art of karate. He's good enough to be a second degree black belt.

The so so-called Lake County Republican headquarters in Libertyville was in the spotlight in the week leading up to the election.

On the day before the primary dozens of environmentalists, Republicans and non-endorsed candidates, who are prevented from using the headquarters, picketed out front.

This came a few days after Dist. 5 County Board member Carol Calabrese called a press conference in Waukegan. She commented on the training sessions at the headquarters for candidates, their workers and precinct committeemen challengers.

"This sham headquarters is nothing more than an obedience school for patronage workers and would-be political payrollers," she said.

OVERHEARD: Republican Party Chairman Robert Neal said he gets a call "every other day or so" from a man worried about his job. It's from Dennis Abbott, president of the Ela Twp. Rural Fire Protection Dist. Abbott is worried about his reappointment next spring in case his County Board mentors, Bruce Hansen and John Reindl, aren't there to push his reappointment. Chicago Bears cornerback Vestee Jackson appeared before the Vernon Hills village board last week to get approval for his new Hysterics Comedy Club. It will open this summer in the Hawthorn Hills Fashion Square at Rtes. 21-60. After Jackson finished explaining he will bring acts of up-and-coming comics to the club, village Atty. Adeline Geo-Karis looked at the lean, lanky football player and said, "You know, you're really attractive!" Dist. 4 County Board candidate Charles Johnston put out a black-and-orange campaign piece just before the primary headlined: "As sure as Halloween is coming, they (the opposition) are planning some dirty tricks." His words were prophetic. Before election the opposition in Dist. 4 distributed a flyer with reprints of newspaper articles about Johnston's DUIs and marital problems. Another pre-election day distribution in Dist. 4 was a full-page cartoon aimed at two candidates as much as at county Republican party Chairman Robert Neal. Under the heading, "Remote control Lake County style," was Neal with radio controlled robots Charles Johnston and incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake doing his bidding. Voters in Dist. 5 got a "dirty tricks" flyer questioning the County Board no vote several years ago of candidate Robert Depke for purchase of the Midlane Farm Country Club. It then asked if this was because Depke's wife was in real estate and my possibly have sold some of the homes subsequently built by private interests. Mayor Richard Welton of Gurnee cringed at a County Board meeting earlier this month. It happened when residents assailed Gurnee's annexation policies aimed at developing more than 1,000 acres northwest of the village. One of the speakers said Gurnee's new motto should be: "Not so Great America."

zoological expert, Dr. Lester Fisher, those who attended found it very informative. The communication, even though philosophical viewpoints many indeed differ, was very refreshing and quite a positive step ahead of last year's Ryerson Deer dilemma when the Concerned Veterinarians & Citizens to Save the Ryerson Deer, Inc. were left with no option other than to take the matter into the court room.

Faced with complete frustration and utter dismay, over three citizens felt they had no County Board representation. Certainly this positive approach by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. of now being accountable to the citizenry places Ryerson light years ahead of the rest of our state whose Dep. of Conservation officials very strongly feel they do not have to "answer" to the public and whose wholesale bow and arrow slaughter of deer in our state parks amidst large public opposition still continues.

It seems that most area residents favor "humane" wildlife management and when at all possible non-lethal alternatives. However, other than trapping and relocating, other methods which include wildlife contraceptive techniques are sadly lacking. Exactly just what the problem is here, I'm still not certain, whether it be the overpowering lobbying forces behind recreational hunting which justifies their actions as being necessary to control deer herd numbers, or the actual lacking of U.S.D.A. approval on the vaccines involved. On the other hand, quite happily I must add that the time is getting quite near to making anti-fertility control on urban deer populations a reality. Both federal and local state agencies entrusted with the job of managing and protecting our natural wildlife resources had better take heed and listen to the outcry of the people, or perhaps what we really need to do to find a "solution" is to take out the objectives of special interest groups from conservation and force our elected officials to represent the wants of the majority.

In the meanwhile, I applaud Lake County Deer Advisory Committee Chairman, John Reindl, on his two heroic helicopter flight deer counts, and praise Committee members Bobbie O'Reilly, Thomas Donnelly II, and Dr. Timothy Harris for their diligence that's made the difference!

Pat, Jack invited to run

Editor:
One of the great puzzles on the local political scene is why Jack Martin and Pat Connor do not run for political office themselves. They are both very wealthy, they both have the time, and both are reasonably intelligent.

Certainly, their recent involvement in open space referenda, township elections, county board campaigns, and precinct committee races indicates a keen interest in local government. It would appear that they are tailor-made for public office.

Added to that, Pat Connors comes from a powerful Chicago Democratic family and has the rough, tough political know-how that some believe is needed to be an effective campaigner. Pat Connor's father, William Connor, was a long-timed political powerhouse in both Chicago and Springfield.

Pat Connor has achieved financial success in the insurance game himself and, I believe, still operates under the William Connor Insurance Company.

Jack Martin's daddy was good to him also leaving a fortune to young Jack, a fortune made in the auto junking business during World War II. Both Connor and Martin seem to have accumulated great wealth without having worked very hard for it, hardly "self-made men."

It would almost appear that they should serve a stint in public office in gratitude for their comfortable lifestyles. The question should be asked again. Why are they reluctant to enter the political arena? No one is more aware than Jack and Pat that public office holders are "fair game" 365 days a year to anyone's allegations of wrongdoing without the alleged having fear of libel suit. Perhaps this is why they are unwilling to enter public life and public scrutiny. Are there skeletons in their closets best left unrattled? I have heard some exciting stories that would make newsworthy allegations if Pat and Jack had enough political courage to leave the sanctuary of immunity that separates private and public life. Come on in, fellas. The water's fine if you can take it as well as you dish it out.

Political employers

Editor:
What political parties are doing is reprehensible and backward. They should be serving the electorate by:

1. Developing and promoting good public policy for the benefit of all citizens of each political unit.

2. Finding men and women committed to those policies, who will run for office with the primary goal of putting such policies into effect (not necessarily making a career of public office).

3. Building volunteer organizations strong enough to elect their candidates and secure execution of their platform and policies.

4. Promoting a large turnout of voters and refraining from endorsing individual candidates in the primary.

Instead, political parties operate as employment agencies for people seeking power and/or plush employment and patronage. Rarely are those candidates truly concerned with the betterment of society. Usually, on the day after election they begin to think about reelection and how to buy votes to guarantee it. Of the incumbent congressmen who run, 98 1/2 percent are reelected. There must be something wrong.

FDR started it in the 30's when he declared, "We will tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect." Then in 1964, LBJ made it a little plainer. He said, "We shall take from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have-nots'..." (borrowed from Karl Marx).

There are so many more 'have-nots' than 'haves' that this became effective election politics. But it was the worst kind of economics. It reduces or eliminates the incentives of both the 'haves' and the 'have-nots.' Without incentives, no economic system will work.

Primary puts new bloc in power

County Board power shift expected

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

As a result of this week's primary election there will be some new faces in public office. That is true on the state, county and the precinct committeeman level.

Of the 235,356 registered voters, 26 percent cast votes on March 20. County Clerk Linda Hess said the unusually high turnout was due, mostly, to "local issues," whether they were County Board candidates or bond referendums.

Leading vote getter was Republican Jim Ryan running unopposed for state attorney general. He got 35,891 votes.

Leading the countywide ballot was Regional Supt. of Schools Sybil Yastrow with 32,499 votes. She was unopposed. A close second was popular incumbent Sheriff Clinton Grinnell with 30,222 votes. Both are Republican.

In most county and local races, election in the primary is tantamount to election next November. This is particularly true in the races for County Board.

There will be at least six new members when the board reorganizes in December. This will be more than enough votes to shift the balance of power from the open space advocates to those with a pro-growth stance. The latter group is led by Republican party Chairman Robert Neal of Dist. 3.

Neal has tried to mold his faction on the County Board and Lake County Republican party into a unified force. But he may have lost some of his clout March 20 with his defeat for precinct committeeman in Newport Twp. where he lost his post as supervisor last spring. Without the grass roots committeeman job he cannot serve as party chairman.

"The County Board shift was expected because the current so-called 'rascal' bloc had a tenuous hold," said County Board Chairman Norman Geary. Accelerating the change is the November retirement of Geary, F.T. "Mike" Graham of Libertyville and John Balen of Waukegan.

Replacing them and others will be the two top vote getters in each district:

Dist. 1—Governor's women's right's advocate Edna Schade and Wheeling businessman John Janowick, both of Deerfield and party Republicans. Loser is incumbent James Mitchell. A former board member, who was appointed two years ago, he often sided with the 'rascals'.

Dist. 2—Republicans Jeff Jeffers of Waukegan and incumbent Matthew Miholic of Lake Bluff are mainstays. Third was Walter White. Democrats Angelo Kyle and Stanley Pekol, both of Waukegan, could make it interesting in this Democratic area.

Dist. 3—Incumbent James LaBelle, a protege of Neal, and Bonnie Murphy of Zion are automatic winners running without opposition. Murphy is an unknown quantity.

Dist. 4—Larry Leafblad of Highland Lake and incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake split the ballot. Leafblad is an open spacer while Kiesgen is a Neal Republican.

Dist. 5—Former County Board member Robert Depke of Warren Twp. returns to office along with incumbent Carol Calabresa of Libertyville. Depke is a political force in whatever office he holds and can be expected to lead the Neal Republicans on the board. Calabresa is pro open space in the same mold as her protege, Graham.

Dist. 6—First-time County Board candidates Colin McRae of Mundelein and Ela Twp. Supv. Robert Grever are party men all the way to give the Neal Republicans a solid majority. They knocked out open spacers Bruce Hansen and John Reindl.

But this is only for two years. The County Board will be reapportioned in 1992. It might even reduce itself from the current 24 members as a result of an impending recommendation to do this by a study commission.

The job of County Board member pays $20,000 this year and increases $1,000 per year through 1992 to $22,000.

Since County Board members also serve on the Lake County Forest Preserve, the politics of that body will also change. The aggressive land-acquisition policy of the past several years will definitely slow. "Those coming on the board aren't of the same opinion as those of us who pushed for open space," Geary said. He said the change will make little difference. "Most of the $80 million earmarked for purchases is committed," he said of land designated for acquisition and waiting to become Lake County property.

Lining up as Neal Republicans are incumbents Delores Axelrod of Highland Park, Donald Strenger of Lake Forest and retiring Rick Price of Lake Forest in Dist. 1; John Miholic of Lake Bluff and Eleanor Rostron of Waukegan in Dist. 3; Jim Fields of Antioch in Dist. 4; James Dolan and Andrea Moore in Dist. 5; and, sometimes, Audrey Nixon of North Chicago in Dist. 2.

Favoring the current majority lead by Geary are John Balen and Debra Halas, both of Waukegan in Dist. 2; Samuel Payne in Dist. 3; Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa in Dist. 4; Calabresa and Graham, both of Libertyville, in Dist. 5; and C. Richard Anderson of Barrington, Bruce Hansen of Lake Zurich, John Reindl of Mundelein and Roberta O'Reilly in Dist. 6.

Depending on what happens in the next two years, the 1992 elections for the County Board could see another shift in power.

New look for County Board

Changes are needed on the County Board, says Robert Neal, a member from Dist. 3 and chairman of the Lake County Republican Party.

First, he'd like to see the chairman elected at large—by everyone in Lake County. Maybe the title could change, too, to county executive.

Barring this, he would like to see the chairman selected by secret ballot. "The way it is now we just create hard feelings," Neal said of the political maneuvering and sometimes endless ballots to pick a new chairman every other year.

He also does not want a smaller County Board. Now composed of 24 members and once, as many as 36, there are proposals to cut the size in half.

"Every time you remove an elected official you take away something from the public," Neal said.

Former county leader dies

A memorial service will be held Wednesday, March 28, at Marsh Funeral Home, Waukegan, for Gar Leaf, former Lake County clerk and one-time coroner. Masonic services will be held Tuesday night, March 27. Mr. Leaf, 87, died Tuesday, March 20, at a hospital in Colorado Springs, Colo., where he made his home for a number of years. One of the county's most popular Republican and prolific vote-getters ever, Mr. Leaf declined to run for reelection in 1966.

Village Tavern: non-stop fun for all ages

by MALENA SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Long Grove has always been a shopper's haven. Settled in the 1800's by a group of German farmers, the architecture has been preserved housing over 100 shops that sell everything from antiques to home-made apple cider. But one of the best reasons for heading there is not the shopping but rather the dining experience that The Village Tavern offers.

Owned and operated by Norma and Bill Sayles and Chip Ullrich, their son, a good time is to be had by all. As you enter, there is a warm quality about the place. The waitresses are actually smiling. As Norma states, "Some have been here for 17, 18 or 24 years." The night cook has been with them 25 years, the day cook 24. And now the busboys' babies and waitresses' children are coming to look for a job. "I'm seeing a second generation come in here now," adds Chip. "I guess I'm getting old."

But as you look at the owners, you can see that they love what they do. The Village Tavern has had only three owners since it opened in 1847. Its longevity speaks for itself. The Sayles have been there for the past 29 years. All six of their children have been involved in the business at one time or another but now, as Norma says, with a smile on her face, "I'm the assistant maintenance superintendent and Chip is the general manager. Ours has always been a family restaurant," states Norma. "We couldn't live without the kids. None of them can come in and drink here, I know all their ages!"

A comfortable family atmosphere, good food, and a lot of audience participation is what The Village Tavern is about. One look at the printed placemats and you can see that the week is loaded with festivities.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays The Tavern regularly holds its auction. Chip himself serves as the auctioneer and does quite a job of it! The customers come in before 7:30 p.m., have a bite to eat, and then wait for the auction to begin. If you want to make some money, just pack up your things and bring them to the sale. It's a lot of fun and can prove quite profitable!

On Wednesday evenings, The Tavern has a five piece Dixieland band playing from 7 to 10 p.m. As Chip states, "Where else can you take a kid to listen to a band playing, with no cover charge, and he/she can eat a hamburger, tap on a highchair, and nobody tells him to be quiet?"

Fridays are special at The Tavern and has customers lining up at the door to get in. It's the "All you can eat fish fry and sing-a-long" night. Not only do you get delicious fish that is not frozen, but hand breaded and dipped in Kellogg's Corn Flakes, (just like mom used to do), but there is also a piano player leading songs to entertain the family.

"It's the only night that we do not take reservations," says Chip. "By the time you leave, you know the people next to you," adds Norma. "It's a lot of fun!"

Saturday is "Ragtime and All That Jazz" night. Customers can have either delicious prime rib or a "Tavern" cut butt steak cooked to order while the band plays on. And Sunday features Chicago-style jazz.

All food at the restaurant is prepared in their own kitchen. They even bake their own bread. Only one tiny microwave rests in the corner of the room and as Norma says, she inherited it from one of her daughters when she bought a bigger one. Now she uses it to melt a slice of cheese on the homemade apple pie.

Along with the regular weekly festivities at The Village Tavern, seasonal celebrations are also offered. Every December The Tavern has Christmas with Santa featuring lunch with both Santa and Mrs. Claus. Apparently, this is such a treat that people make reservations as they are leaving, for the next year. At Easter, The Tavern features a country breakfast and petting zoo outside with lambs, ducks, calves and other farm animals for the children.

Another interesting aspect of the restaurant is that everything is for sale, even their tables and chairs.

And what does it take to be successful in the restaurant business? As Bill Sayles states, "You sell the sizzle not the steak." Well, maybe that explains the longevity of The Village Tavern. Not only does it provide a wonderful atmosphere to enjoy with the family, but even the steaks are great. For reservations call (708)634-3117.

Lakeland Area builders win design contest

The winners of the American Architectural Manufacturers Assn.'s (AAMA) third annual "Aluminum Siding Achievement Awards" were announced at AAMA's EXPO '90 convention.

Entries represented a wide variety of architectural designs - ranging from single-family homes to condominiums, churches and shopping centers.

The winners in each of the four categories are:

New Construction/Residential - Dell Manufacturing Co., Inc., Grayslake, (first place); Estate Siding Corp., Libertyville, (second place); and Ryan Homes, Pittsburgh, (third place).

Remodeling/Residential - Installed Services, Inc., Zion, (first place); Glenn McDonald Roofing Company, South Euclid, Ohio, (second place); and Wilson-Colonial Exteriors, Prairie View, (third place).

Commercial - Bald Eagle Siding Company, White Bear Lake, Minn., (first place); F.M. Roofing and Siding Company, Export, Pa., (second place); and Custom Gutter, Inc., Elyria, Ohio, (third place).

Historic Buildings - Precision Contracting, Metairie, La., (first place); Advanced Aluminum, Inc., Winfield, (second place); and Jackson Vinyl Siding and Window Co., Jackson, Miss., (third place).

The judges were impressed by the "curb appeal" of the buildings and the builders' and contractors' use of aluminum siding and accessories for achieving a wide variety of design objectives.

AAMA's Residential Siding Products Division has just completed the third year of its "Side With Quality" campaign - a trade and consumer program to promote aluminum siding, soffit and fascia. Aluminum siding is the only material backed by a published performance standard (AAMA 1402-86), notes AAMA.

Intermatic expands to stateline park

Construction has begun on a 156,000 sq. ft. warehouse and distribution center for Intermatic at the Fountain Head Park on the north side of Richmond near the Wisconsin stateline.

Officials involved in Intermatic's $3 million investment held traditional ground-breaking ceremonies. Arnold May, president of International Planners and Developers, is general contractor. He said the building will be ready for occupancy by Nov. 1.

Intermatic, a company which began as International Register Co. in 1891, is located at Spring Grove where May constructed a 100,000 sq. ft. manufacturing plant for the company in 1961. May had persuaded Ansel Kinney, president, to headquarter in McHenry

County and the company has since made three additions to bring the plant size to 375,000 sq. ft.

McHenry county's largest industrial employer with 700 employees, Intermatic makes times for the industrial and domestic markets, including commercial and consumer products. It also makes outdoor landscape lighting, and a year ago it introduced its newest product, a surge suppressor, to protect both businesses and homes from unwanted electrical surges.

Richmond Village President Bruce Hunter expressed community recognition of the new warehouse construction, calling the start of construction "a momentous day for the Village of Richmond. It is an honor and certainly exciting to have such a fine corporate citizen as Intermatic in our community. I look forward to a warm relationship between Intermatic and our village."

Arvind Patel, vice president of manufacturing at Intermatic, said the company turned to May because of his engineering and design expertise for the state-of-the-art warehouse and distribution center. The new center will consolidate warehouse locations from other nearby communities.

Patel said the new building, which will cover four acres, will have a computerized inventory management system. The company will employ three shifts to ship 250 pallets of products a day from the new warehouse.

Robert May, veteran broker who is president of Northeastern Illinois Land Management in Richmond, said the project began in February 1988. Peter Bell, developer of Fountain Head, and Robert May structured the ownership and financing in the Richmond development.

The new warehouse/distribution center will initially employ 50 people but plans are already on the drawing board to expand the facility to 306,000 sq. ft.

3-day Trade Fair opens in McHenry

The McHenry Area Chamber of Commerce 19th Annual Trade Fair, "Focus on the Future" is in its final stages of preparation for March 23, 24 and 25 at Parkland School, Rte. 120 and Ringwood Rd.

Grand prize is a trip to Las Vegas. Youth's grand prize is a 20-inch Mongoose Decade Freestyle Bike.

Admission is free. Plenty of parking. Free shuttle service available. Children must be accompanied by adults.

Doors are open Friday at 5 p.m., Saturday, 10 a.m. and Sunday, 10 a.m. with the show closing at 5 p.m.

Give Yourself a Raise with Home Federal's New JUMP UP CD

Back by Popular Demand!

8%

That's only the beginning!

Normally, buying a CD often means guessing whether rates are going up or down. Few investors want to tie up funds if rates will be going up in a month or so.

Home Federal has a solution and it's called the Jump Up CD. If rates rise, you can tell us to jump your rate — up to one full percent!

When you open a Jump Up CD, you'll earn our already high rate on a 14-month CD. And you'll receive a coupon redeemable for an even higher rate — up to one full point — anytime our rates rise to that point during the life of the CD. For example, if our 14-month rate increases 1/2%, you may redeem your coupon for an extra 1/2% or you may wait until the rates rise even higher. Whenever you act, you'll receive the higher rate until maturity.

It's our way of ensuring that even if interest rates move up, you'll still receive an outstanding rate.

Jump Up CDs may be opened with as little as $2500. Visit any Home Federal office for details or call 244-0880 for further information.

Sharing, rents lure tenants to Suite 350

The modern "voice with a smile" in the person of skilled receptionists at Dolan Associates' Suite 350 shared-office complex in Bannockburn, is the lure to start-up and smaller businesses.

Of the seven newest tenants in the 33-office Suite 350, formally known as Bannockburn Executive Offices, most stress that having a friendly, qualified telephonist/receptionist answer their calls is an important factor to good business relations, and one that cuts overhead substantially.

And the fact that most of the new tenants also live in the vicinity of Bannockburn Executive Plaza at the four-way intersection of Int. 94 and Half Day Rd. (Illinois Rte. 22) also was an important factor in the decision to choose Suite 350, they report.

Since opening the shared-office complex nearly five years ago, Suite 350 has attracted a diversity of local tenants and national companies starting a local office.

Film Review

We chose "Loose Cannons" to review mainly because it stars Academy Award winner, and multiple nominee, Gene Hackman and new award nominee Dan Aykroyd.

Hackman's acting prowess stands on his most credible record, while Aykroyd's latest performances, especially as the son in "Driving Miss Daisy," prove he has erased his "Saturday Night Live" image and matured into a fine actor.

But the lame script of this much overdone buddy cop flick makes any effort by Hackman and Aykroyd ineffective.

Hackman's rendition of the text book tough, maverick cop and Aykroyd's portrayal of his neurotic partner will probably neither help nor hurt their careers.

The story is a confusing one concerning a string of murders that seem connected to a porno movie playing in the nation's capitol.

It gets more confusing when Nazis and Jewish Intelligence get into the foray.

We give this one a two on a scale of five, based on Hackman's presence in the cast and the fact that there are a few good moments, but too few.

Viewers might want to see this one on video if all the good films are out and there is a two for one sale.

Oscar Predictions

With Academy Award night almost upon us, and because Lakeland employees cannot enter this newspaper's Oscar contest, we'd like to make our predictions of who we think the winners will be.

Take note that this does not mean that we feel that the ones we list are the most deserving.

For best picture, "Driving Miss Daisy" seems to be way ahead of its nearest competitor, "Born on the Fourth of July."

If past Globe and People's Choice Awards, and their affect on the Oscars can be believed, Tom Cruise should be the best looking actor to win this Best Actor statue in years. We'd give it to Robin Williams for "Dead Poets Society."

Morgan Freeman is running a close second for "Daisy."

Much revered thespian Jessica Tandy is a shoe-in for Best Actress accolades, with Michelle Pfeiffer coming in second. We'd pass the gold onto Pfeiffer.

Denzel Washington's rebellious slave turned soldier in "Glory," should put an Oscar on his mantle for Best Supporting Actor, while Best Supporting Actress honors could be a toss-up between Angelica Houston in "Enemies, a Love Story," and Brenda Fricker for the wonderful "My Left Foot." Both deserve an award.

Oliver Stone should get his second Vietnam Oscar for his directing of "Fourth," although Peter Weir's outstanding job on "Poets" might be more deserving of top honors in this category.

The Best Cinematography kudos are a toss-up between "The Abyss" or "Glory" depending on the bent of the voters. "Glory" has magnificence, while "The Abyss" is full of great special effects to enhance its filming.

Whoever wins, it's always interesting to watch one get past all the "thank you's."

Local band honors Skynyrd

Red Sky, the popular "Tribute to Lynyrd Skynyrd" band is sporting a different look and sound these days.

The Mundelein based band, that has done concerts with the Marshall Tucker Band and the Outlaws, is returning after a six-month vacation from the club scene, leaner and meaner than before.

Previously noted by the Chicago Rocker Magazine as "Seven Big Guys On One Stage," Red Sky has since trimmed down to five players.

Although they have dropped the tribute moniker, Red Sky still performs some Lynyrd Skynyrd favorites along with other artists such as Thin Lizzy, Molly Hatchet and Bob Seger.

Featured throughout the show are some original songs from their first album released last February. The members of Red Sky include Brian Palka, Paul Salerno, Steve Rosi, Neno Flores and Doug Hanchon.

Red Sky is currently putting together some local club dates in preparation for their summer tour called "The Party Starts at Sundown Tour '90." For more information on Red Sky call Brian Palka at (708)566-7239.

Bluegrass to be sprouting at Woodstock Opera House

Hot Rize, one of the most popular of the contemporary bluegrass bands touring today, will be presented in concert at the Woodstock Opera House on Friday, April 6 at 8 p.m.

Based in Boulder, Colo., the band consists of Tim O'Brien on mandolin and fiddle, Charles Sawtelle on guitar, Nick Forster on bass, and Pete ("Dr. Banjo") Wernick on banjo, each a recognized authority in the bluegrass world.

How to save money calling home from overseas

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Many first time travelers have been shocked to find an "outrageous" surcharge for long distance calls on their hotel bill here in the U.S. Well, unless you have phoned home from a hotel overseas, you don't know how outrageous a surcharge can be!

In many countries in Europe, a surcharge of 200 to 300 percent of the call is not unusual. Considering that a call home is an expensive proposition to start with, tripling it may cause you to have a skip a few meals. The answer is simple, don't call from your room. But what are your alternatives?

Pay phones are one choice. They won't look like the phone on the corner back home, but you will find them in most of Europe. Learning how to use them may also be a challenge, but that's all part of the fun of overseas travel! There's usually a set of instructions on the phone, and if you're lucky it will be in English.

Aside from pay phones, you can go to one of the phone company offices to call the folks back in Lake Villa. Just look for the symbol "TT" in most of Europe. In Switzerland and France, look for "PTT". You just walk in, give the clerk the number you wish to call and you will be directed to a special phone. When you finish your call, go back to the counter and pay your bill with no surcharge.

Post offices in many countries offer similar services. You may also find special phone centers at railroad stations or airports.

AT&T has been installing special phones at airports and cruise docks both overseas and in the Caribbean. You will be put directly in touch with an English speaking operator. You will also be billed at the prevailing rate in the U.S., which is usually less than the local rate. I have used these phones at the airport in Jamaica, the cruise dock in Nassau, and the airport in Munich, Germany.

If you still must call from the room, make a quick call to the overseas party and have them call back.

Mom Likes To Cook

By Randee Rlan

Chicken every Sunday-and often on weekdays, too. That's a way of life for many American families.

Roast it, oven-fry it or broil it. Much as we like poultry, how many ways can we serve it? Well, how about a couple of favorites of mine? Perhaps a bit of an answer to the oft-heard question, "Let's do something different with chicken for dinner tonight!"

Tarragon Chicken

One of my favorites; comforting, fragrant with tarragon and very tasty. The small, whole onions and mushrooms, along with the chicken, wine and broth make a delicious gravy to be ladled over small boiled potatoes, noodles or rice. It's so-o-good.

1 4 lb. fryer, cut into 8 pieces (without skin)
4 extra thighs
salt and pepper
1/2 cup flour
4 Tbl. butter
1/4 cup oil
1 lb. fresh mushrooms
1 lb. small boiling onions

3/4 cup dry white wine
2 tsp. dried tarragon
2 cup chicken broth

Wash chicken pieces, dry and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dredge pieces in flour. In large skillet melt butter and oil; add chicken and cook till golden.

Transfer cooked chicken to large casserole. Add peeled boiling onions and fresh whole mushrooms.

In skillet add reserved flour to fat; cook slightly; add wine and deglaze pan. Stir in chicken broth and tarragon.

Add this mixture to chicken in casserole; cover with foil and bake in 350 degrees oven for approximately two hours. Correct seasonings and serve over rice.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Chinese cashew chicken

Years ago, I so enjoyed this Oriental crunchy, cashew chicken at our gourmet club. We had a visitor from mainland China; to our delight, she prepared and served these bite-size pieces to us on lettuce leaves. Beautiful!

4 boned chicken breasts
1/2 cup milk or Sake marinade*

1/2 cup flour
dash of salt and pepper
1/2 lb. chopped cashews
2 lettuce leaves

vegetable oil
1 cup chicken broth
1 tsp. cornstarch

Cut chicken into bite-size pieces, then soak in milk or Sake for one hour. Beat egg in one bowl; mix flour, salt and pepper in second bowl; chop cashews and place in a third bowl.

Roll chicken in egg, then cashews, then flour and fry at 375 degrees until golden brown. Heat chicken broth with cornstarch, adding dash of salt and pepper, until thickened. Place lettuce leaves on plate, top with chicken, and pour chicken broth mixture over top.

*Sake marinade: Mix 1/2 cup soy sauce, 1/2 tsp. salt, 2 Tbl. sugar, 2 Tbl. Sake, 1/2 tsp. fresh ginger-root, 1/2 tsp. Accent and sprinkle of garlic salt.

Athletes face the toughest

Battle... with Drugs

Editor's Note: The following article is the third of a three-part series entitled, "Is 'Just Say No' Working in 1990." This particular segment focuses on how high schools are dealing with the drug problem of student-athletes.

by VINCE VITTORE
Lakeland Newspapers

Many of the most persistent memories of the 1980's came from athletic competition. Throughout the decade sports on the professional, collegiate and scholastic level enjoyed a golden era.

However, the stories that made the evening news in the late 1980's and into 1990, are not about the competition on the field. Instead, athletes become part of the news by checking into alcohol and drug rehabilitation clinics, testing positive for illegal drug use and, in worst case situations, being arrested.

While professional and collegiate sports organizations try to deal with a growing problem of drug use, high schools face the greater challenge of keeping athletes off illegal drugs, alcohol and steroids. At the same time coaches point to professional athletes as role models on the playing field, these same athletes are arrested, checked into clinics and suspended from their sports.

Examples of athletes using, or suspected of using drugs, in all sports at every level surround the student athlete. Lawrence Taylor, one of the most feared defensive linemen in the National Football League has tested positive for cocaine use twice. Dwight Gooden, arguably the best major league pitchers of the last decade, has tested positive for cocaine use once. Closer to home, Johnny Selvie, who helped lead Chicago's King High School, the No. 1 ranked team in the nation, to a state championship last weekend, was arrested twice last summer on charges of selling cocaine. All three athletes are still playing.

Off the fields of play, the problem are better. A recent Associated Press poll showed 37 percent of the American population aged 12 and over have used illegal drugs at least once. In addition, Sign on the dotted line

To deal with the problem, many Lake County high schools are requiring athletes to sign contracts declaring that they will remain free of alcohol, tobacco, illegal drugs and steroids. At Wauconda High School, student-athletes are required to sign a form that states, "the use of tobacco (in any form), alcohol, drugs or other illegal substances and stealing will not be tolerated."

In addition, the form spells out punishments for various offenses. Any student who is found to be violating this policy is also required to attend a week-long alcohol and drug treatment program.

"This is saying, 'Let's help the kids,'" Wauconda Athletic Director Jim LePaige said of the program.

LePaige said the alcohol and drug policy, which was adopted by Wauconda in 1981, recognizes that

We know it's a problem. We're trying to deal with it. It's a national problem and we're finally starting to address it. We haven't had a lot of problems, but that's not saying it's not out there."

Coach: My boys don't use drugs -- during a meet.

While student-athletes are required to sign the forms, which apply to them year-round, non-athletes are not under similar rules. The singling out of athletes is intentional because of the role models that they play, LePaige said.

"We're saying to them, 'We feel you're a special part of our school,'" he said.

by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and has now trickled down to the high school level. Contradicting court cases have done nothing to solve the legalities of a testing program.

However, three Chicago-area high schools have instituted programs that could help clear the way for Lake County schools to begin testing. Homewood-Flossmore, Addison Trail and Willowbrook High Schools have all instituted drug testing programs as part of

Is 'Just Say No' working in 1990?

"And I don't care how good they are. I'm more concerned about the fourth and fifth graders that look up to the seniors and say, 'I want to be just like Johnny.'"

Another way Wauconda deals with the problem is through a "Meet the Team" night. At the beginning of each season, all athletes and parents are given the opportunity to come to the school to meet coaches and other team members. In addition, the athletes are given a presentation on tobacco, alcohol, illegal drugs and steroids.

During the presentation, LePaige said, student-athletes are shown what effects these drugs have on their bodies. The presentation on steroids is particularly effective, LePaige said.

Despite the effectiveness, athletes who want to gain an edge on their competition will continue to use steroids. With the pressures of college scouts, media attention and parents who want their children to be stars, student-athletes are often tempted to use chemicals to advance their potential.

To combat the temptation, LePaige uses professional athletes as examples.

"You look at any other bona fide athlete who has made it. They made it there through hard work and a natural way," he said. "I don't feel we have a steroid problem at Wauconda though."

Testing

While most schools are hoping students with problems will step forward, in some instances, school districts are adopting policies that will require student-athletes to take drug tests.

The idea of testing was first adopted

Peer counseling

Many schools are also using peer counseling for all students to help combat the drug problem.

Students at Lake Zurich High School and Antioch Community High School are taking part in a pilot program that will train juniors and seniors to act as peer counselors for incoming freshmen.

The program, named ALPHA (Adolescents Learning Positive Health Alternatives), gives upperclassmen

At the same time coaches point to professional athletes as role models on the playing field, these same athletes are arrested, checked into clinics and suspended from their sports.

training in such things as communication skills, classroom management and decision making. In return, the seniors and juniors talk to freshman classes for nine weeks during the fall semester.

"It's students helping each other," said Barbara Catzfey, Lake Zurich's social worker and ALPHA sponsor. "We're hoping to make it a real casual environment."

Student leaders must maintain a C average and also sign an agreement stating they will remain drug, alcohol and tobacco free for one year, Catzfey said.

"We want these kids to be real role models," she said. "It's someone the younger students can identify with."

At Wauconda High School, LePaige is hoping to take 10 upperclassmen-athletes to a leadership camp. These 10 will then act as counselors to younger athletes.

"If you're a student-athlete you're going to think twice," LePaige said. "It also helps them make a decision. If it makes a better environment, I'm all for it."

The parent's role

While nobody seems to think the problem will be easily solved, those that deal with students and student-athletes agree that parents need to play a bigger role.

"I think we have to educate the parent's a lot more," LePaige said.

Through the Wauconda penalty system, which includes required rehabilitation, parents are required to attend four of the counseling days. In addition, the 'Meet the Team' night presentation is geared toward parents.

One of the reasons parents are being asked to play a greater role is their own involvement in drugs.

"Alcohol is the drug of choice for students in the Northwest Suburbs because alcohol is the drug of choice for their parents," Catzfey said. "We have to start with ourselves."

Despite the plethora of potential solutions, most also agree that the problem will not go away easily.

"We're fighting an uphill battle," Catzfey said.

Canada faces USA team at CLC

The Canadian national freestyle wrestling team will face the American squad in a World Dual meet on Tuesday, April 3 in the College of Lake County Physical Education Center on the Grayslake campus. Preliminaries will start at 6 p.m. followed by the World Dual meet at 7:30 p.m.

The USA lineup includes a number of wrestling stars from Illinois including NCAA All-Americans Mark Whitehead and Joei Bales, both of Evanston.

The Canadian team has chalked up an impressive record in recent international competitions. Team member Gary Bohay was a world silver medalist in 1989 and the team placed a strong tenth. The team was third in the 1989 Pan American Championships and placed fourth in the 1989 World Cup.

Always Ready for

ADVENTURE

Six days in Canada pleasure to recall

Six days in Canada, most of them on or near Ontario's Lake-of-the-Woods, is difficult to describe yet a pleasure to recall. Ontario offers what the outdoors is all about. Enjoyment in doing and seeing nature in a new location, geographical differences, fresh natural beauty and friendly people are all woven together by a close relationship with the outdoors.

Air Canada's flight from O'Hare to Winnipeg, Manitoba was a smooth and tasty two hours with friendly flight attendants and a surf and turf menu that barely allowed time to finish before

"fasten your belt" signs appeared.

After landing and going through customs, I started using a question in the Winnipeg airport, but never had it answered. It brought lots of smiles, followed by friendly banter. "Where do I get my PEG?" I would ask seriously. "What peg?" was the usual puzzled reply from air officials, car rental and other travel personnel. "Well, my flight ticket," which I would then produce, "says I'm going to 'Win-A-Peg'... are you the one who has it?"

It became a good friend-maker among those not too busy for a little humor. Some even remembered, as I met them on my return trip with a smiling inquiry... "Did you get your PEG yet?"

It's three hours on good roads from Winnipeg to Kenora at Ontario's west border on the north shores of Lake-of-the-Woods. This giant lake was created 20,000 years ago by the same Wisconsin glacier that retreated 8,000 years later and dug out Lake Michigan. En masse, it contains thousands of look-alike islands, yet each has its own personality, contours and beauty of rocks, plant life, trees, birds and animals. Totaled, they say, are some 18,000 islands. And when combining lake and island shorelines, it exceeds that of Lake Superior, the greatest of the Great Lakes. Tourism folks call it "Ontario's Sunset Country"—it's farthest west. They also provided a magnificent full moon eclipse during my visit.

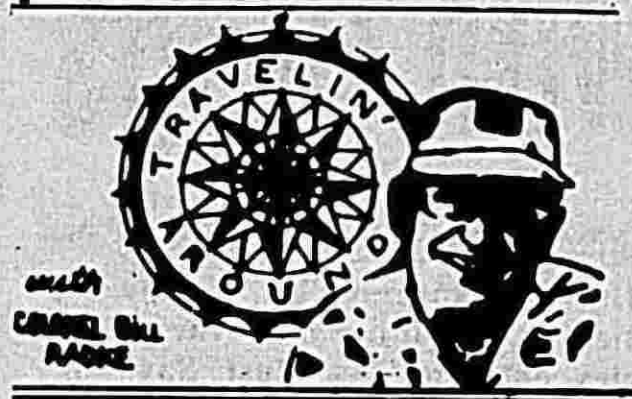

Kenora was the site of an International Bass Tournament, which drew strongly from both the U.S. and Canada. As an assisting official, I watched 67 teams in the two-day competition that produced a five-fish daily limit for most, an $8,000 first prize for the top team, and total awards of $30,000 in cash and kind.

It was preceded on the final day, by a kids' fishing contest near the weigh-in site. Local merchants provided fishing caps, goodie bags and nice awards won by drawing numbers. The boys and girls were all beginner anglers, having a ball, and prizes outnumbered their catches.

Kenora Harbor has a face lift. Three years ago, new buildings, municipal piers and park landscaping converted a messy, ancient waterfront into a very unusual waterfront park-harbor. "It's a credit to our community," their mayor says. "The people did it—not me."

On the last contest day, we managed a half hour of non-conflicting walleye fishing with an ardent local angler. We boated three walleye and two sauger in the one-pound-plus range, released after photos; then, raced back for the kids' noon prize distribution.

On to Sioux Narrows the next morning, after an hour's drive and a quick en route look at Rushing River Provincial Park. Their 191 campsites were mostly Winnipeg folks, but about 10 percent came from the U.S. Camping rates in all provincial parks are identical, but this one is particularly scenic, situated on Dogtooth Lake—deep enough for lake trout.

As the trip unfolded, I knew I'd be sampling other pleasures of Canada's outdoor treasures. Ontario's Sunset County will furnish information by writing Box 647 CB, Kenora, Ontario, Canada P9N 3X6, or call collect 1-800-465-1099, ext. CB.

Lakeland Newspapers Lake County At A Glance

Plans raise outcry

ROUND LAKE—The Standing Oaks Apartment Complex, as a planned unit development, is dead. VJJ Partnership has withdrawn its petition to develop the Hainesville Rd. property for commercial use. However, in a letter to Village Board members, VJJ proposes developing the area for multi-unit housing, instead. A citizens group, formed to fight the PUD proposal, is outraged and expressed their concern at a recent board meeting where the letter was submitted to the board for approval.

School complaints

NORTH CHICAGO—North Chicago School Dist. 187 board members once again heard parents and concerned citizens complain about conditions within the school system. One citizen, Emmanuel Hannah, read board members a list of complaints all relating, he said, to a lack of discipline in the schools of the district.

Parties agree

LAKE VILLA—The developer of Painted Lakes, the Lake County Forest Preserve, and the village of Lake Villa, have agreed to cooperate with each other before acting on the future of over 700 acres of undeveloped land on the northeast side of Lake Villa.

Landmark sold

LAKE ZURICH—One of Lake Zurich's oldest and most treasured historical landmarks, The Farman Hotel, has been sold to a group of investors, according to the hotel's founder. Both the hotel and lot, which includes a building to the east of the hotel, were sold on March 7, Gary (Bud) Farman said in a telephone interview from his home in Florida.

Protects land

VERNON HILLS—Vernon Hills board members Tuesday approved its first open-space purchase with an 8.6-acre parcel along Rte. 45. The wooded parcel, located across from Corporate Woods in unincorporated Lake County, was sold to the village last week by Bruno A. Puszynski, of Chicago, for $127,000. Village manager Larry Laschen negotiated with the owner for two months and brought the price down from $190,000. The property will remain as open space, or possibly a park. This is the village's first solo purchase under a Conservation Open Space Dist. zoning. The COS zoning was proposed by Trustee Pam Newton, who is an advocate for protecting open space without condemnation. Village trustees must hold public hearings before zoning and annexing the property.

Project approved

WAUCONDA—A Lake Zurich developer was given preliminary approval by the Wauconda Village Board to construct approximately 65 single-family homes on a 30-acre parcel of land located on the east side of Anderson Rd., about one half mile south of Rte. 176. Magnum Builders is expected to receive final approval for the development, tentatively named Hampton Meadows, at a public hearing before the village board on Tuesday, April 17.

OK apartments

HAINESVILLE—Development issues topped the agenda at the Hainesville Village Board meeting. Trustees gave the nod to an 18 unit apartment complex at the corner of Fairlawn and Plainview Sts. proposed by Keith Olsen of J&K Enterprises, Round Lake Beach. Site plans show three two-story buildings, each with six apartments. Trustee Gerald DeBruyne said he had reviewed the plans with the builder and architect and found it well within existing codes. "It looks like a nice plan," DeBruyne said.

Pay increase

LINDENHURST—The Lindenhurst Village Board has approved a pay increase of $10 per meeting for the plan commission chairperson. Plan commission members are paid $20 per meeting which is taken from the village's corporate fund.

Eye annexation

GURNEE—Gurnee's growth is taking a new direction. While the 1,250 acres west of Hunt Club Rd. and east of Rte. 45 is waiting for the county to decide on sewer service extension, the Gurnee Village Board will be considering a parcel at its southern end. Globe, Inc. has petitioned the village for annexation of some 520 acres of land near the intersection of Rtes. 21 and 120. Gurnee Village Admin. James Hayner said the proposed subdivision, known as the Merit Club, would contain single family homes and an 18-hole golf course.

Verdict overturned

LAKE VILLA—The Illinois Supreme Court will be asked to hear a case involving Lake Villa Twp. Highway Commissioner James Semmerling and Lake County Building and Zoning Dir. Robert Streicher, which was originally won by Semmerling last April. The main issue is whether or not the Twp. Highway Dept. must obtain permits from the county for road construction.

March for parks

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake Community Park Dist. will be hosting a "March For Parks" campaign at 11 a.m. March 24. The march is part of the national Earth Day celebration. Part of the funds raised will go towards purchase of land adjacent to Central Park.

2 die in crash

ANTIOCH—A one-vehicle crash in Racine County, Wis. killed two Lake County residents and left the other in critical condition. Dead at the scene were Sherry Anderson, 20, Lake Villa Twp., and Jennifer Petykowski, 17, Antioch. Flown by Flight for Life helicopter to the Milwaukee Medical Complex in Milwaukee was passenger Scott Lowe, 21, Antioch. Anderson was the driver of the car that went out of control as it was traveling eastbound on Hwy. D, just outside of Rochester, left the highway, hit a utility pole, a telephone switching box and a cement pillar.

Rev. Cook receives Harambee Award

The Rev. H.J. Cook, pastor of the Gideon Missionary Baptist Church in Waukegan, has been selected as the recipient of the Harambee Award for 1990 from the College of Lake County's Lakeshore Campus.

The Harambee Award, Swahili for "pulling together," was instituted last year to recognize organizations or individuals who have promoted educational excellence and who have assisted the college in the delivery of educational services to Northeast Lake County.

As pastor of the Gideon Baptist Church, a position he has held since 1959, Reverend Cook has promoted education by volunteering his church for a variety of college outreach programs including on-site testing, registration and special college presentations.

Rev. Cook is a founder and member of the Lake County Urban League; a lifetime member of the NAACP; and is presently serving on the Waukegan Twp. Senior Citizen Service Committee.

Society needs re-adjusting: Mitchell

by MIKE PRAMSHAFFER
Lakeland Newspapers

"Keeping families together - that's what it's all about," says Richard Mitchell, executive director of Family Service Agency of North Lake County.

Family Service Agency, a pioneer member of the United Way of Lake County, specializes in solving and preventing family relationship problems.

Mitchell, only the fifth executive director in the agency's 42-year history, said a "deterioration of our society" is the main thrust behind most of the marital and family problems existing today.

"The acceptance in our society for immorality is the problem. Thirty years ago, people were ashamed or embarrassed to talk about their divorce in public. Today, people don't care what others think. A divorce is no big deal," said Mitchell, who received his master's degree from Loyola University in Chicago.

Family Service Agency, governed by a 17-member board of directors, has four branch offices, including its headquarters in Waukegan. Other facilities are located in Lake Villa, Zion and Antioch. Mitchell has served under 15 different board presidents, the current one being David Jefferies.

Mitchell said one of the most serious problems facing Americans today is that of drugs.

"Let's face it. Family life in America today is getting worse, not better. Our children are getting short-changed because we haven't been able to control the drug problem and it's spilling into our school systems as well as into our homes. Our society doesn't seem to care anymore, or maybe we just don't realize what's really happening," he said.

The director also said parents are more concerned with making the "big bucks"

nowadays than they are with bringing their children up. "The concept of money has somewhat ruined our society as well. Many parents have re-aligned their priorities so that money and themselves are number one and children are second."

Mitchell continued, "I think we should start seeking more help from the institutions that stand for morality in our society. Either our churches are not speaking loud enough or we're just not listening to what they've been telling us, because in today's world immorality is accepted."

Mitchell said society in general has to change its direction. "The word 'family' doesn't have that special meaning anymore to a lot of us, and those who are experiencing family problems really need to re-adjust and figure out where they've gone wrong. That's where organizations like Family Service Agency can help."

Family Service Agency counsels any person who resides or is employed in the service area of the United Way of Lake County. The problems of such clients include family and personal difficulties which may involve one or more of the following: marital problems, parent-child relationships, children's adjustment problems, adult adjustment problems, adolescent adjustment problems, reconstituted families, solo parent problems, pre-marital counseling, and victims/offenders of abuse: physical or sexual.

The Agency, which is staffed by licensed professionals, utilizes a moderate fee schedule based on income and size of the client's family. Those who are not able to pay are not assessed any fees.

In addition, pro-active seminars and educational programs, such as Parent Effectiveness Training, are available to all Lake County residents and employees by calling (708) 662-4464 (headquarters).

Featuring
 Spence Petros

Spence Petros is a Managing Editor of Fishing Facts magazine, a full-time position he's held for nearly eighteen years. He is also a Pro Staff member of the Lindy-Little Joe, Berkley, Wille Prods., S.C. Johnson (Off Products), Zebco/Quantum, and Babe Winkelman Productions fishing teams. He relies on over 40 years of fishing experience when he's on the water, or when teaching others to catch more fish through seminars, in-store promotions, club talks, fishing schools, or the over forty TV shows in which he's appeared.

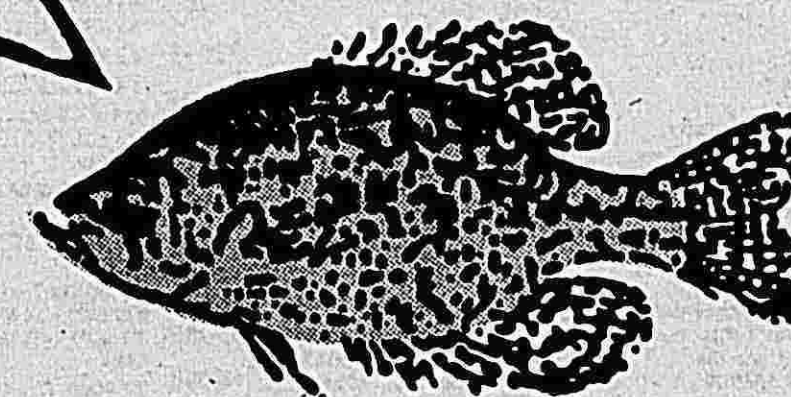

Spence combines unique skills which have made him one of the top "fishermen/teachers" in the country. Not only is he a hard-charging, innovative angler who can fish with the best of them, but he is able to effectively communicate with other anglers to teach and share fish-catching information.

Although Spence has fished in waters from the Arctic Circle to South America, most of the time you find him pursuing muskies, pike, bass, walleyes, trout, salmon and panfish throughout the Midwest. He is a versatile angler, highly skilled in almost all forms of lure and live-bait fishing--and one who can consistently catch just about any fish in fresh water.

In 1989 Spence was inducted into the National Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame. He was also profiled as one of the "Living Legends of America Sport-fishing" in Larry Columbo's 1986 book. During July of 1990 Spence joins the ESPN cable networks outdoor show lineup with a new nationally aired show that he co-hosts and that appears weekly called "The Outdoor Writers."

ALBION

SECOND FLOOR PLAN
PLAN # 209-33

FIRST FLOOR PLAN
PLAN # 209-33

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 50'-0" x 52'-0"
LIVING: 1557 square feet
GARAGE: 440 square feet
COVERAGE: 1700 square feet

The Albion features two-story living at its level best. Downstairs, guests are entertained, children romp and meals are prepared. Upstairs, the King and Queen of the house hold court. This top hat atop this one-story home is their private domicile. This separation of habitat makes the brick Albion perfect for a family, a single professional or a retired couple. Guests to the Albion are greeted by a stair-lined foyer with nearby bathroom. To the left lies the fireplace-equipped living room, the dining room and the kitchen. Though separately named, this trio of rooms really functions as one. Each blends into the other. The cook can even prepare a meal while holding conversation over the patio bar.

One step outside the dining room finds a guest enjoying the view from a covered deck. Meanwhile, backyard access is made easy through the kitchen. When the party's over or after a long day of wrestling with the kids, everyone has their own place to go. The two downstairs bedrooms - perfect for kids or guests - each have a walk-in closet and a shared bath. Upstairs, sink into luxury via a huge walk-in closet and a two-sink vanity. This second-story sanctuary provides the perfect getaway without having to leave the house. For a study plan of the ALBION (209-33), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

MARKETPLACE for smart shoppers, that's Lakeland Classified.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Joyce Jillson

Weekly Tip: Egocentric ways could work for you on Sunday — a day to search for understanding and higher truths.

Aries (March 21-April 19) An excellent week! Mercury in Aries helps you project a more important image. Physical self-renewal.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Money issues are up for discussion. Many behind-the-scenes maneuvers. Late-evening good news on Thursday.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) Clear up any personal misunderstanding, especially if you were at fault. Friends or co-workers give you valuable business tips.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) Health is as much a state of mind as it is physical. Emotional harmony if you practice detachment.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Joint financial matters fluctuate but come out all right in the end. Freedom of mind means much to you.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Discussing domestic issues leads to real solutions. Many practical accomplishments.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could be in the thick of things — lots to juggle. Focus on sorting out priorities and goals.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) What you say, write or speak can make you money. Your interest in technological developments could assist your career.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) You get a better sense of yourself. Try a new approach to closing business deals.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Moon in Capricorn stimulates your self-confidence and determination. Freshen up your home life.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Much of your past gets cleared up. Your hidden conservative attitudes come out.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) Friends will appreciate your loyalty this week. A love of pleasure on Thursday.

If You Were Born This Week

An inner restlessness this month leads to new jobs or far-reaching changes in your environment. Do what's best for yourself. Information is power; stay on top of the latest developments in your field.

Stanek, Sanders garner post-season accolades

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The basketball season which started with enthusiasm in Gurnee ended a few miles down the road in Waukegan.

The team awards have been, for the most part, given out at banquets, the Most Valuable Players named, the statistics sheets distributed to parents.

The 1989-90 season was indeed a strange one.

This year was an early exit for most Lake County teams. For the first time in three years, no one made it to the supersectional level. Our Lake County teams won just two regional titles - the minimum amount.

By now, those stinging defeats are healing. Just ask Libertyville Coach Max Sanders.

"The only disappointing aspect of the season was the third quarter against Carmel. In the tournament, you can't have a bad game," Sanders said.

The Wildcats, along with Round Lake, topped the 20-win plateau with a 22-4 record. Earning the 22 wins helped Sanders become Lakeland Newspapers' Coach-of-the-Year. He succeeds Warren's Darrel Bader in that role.

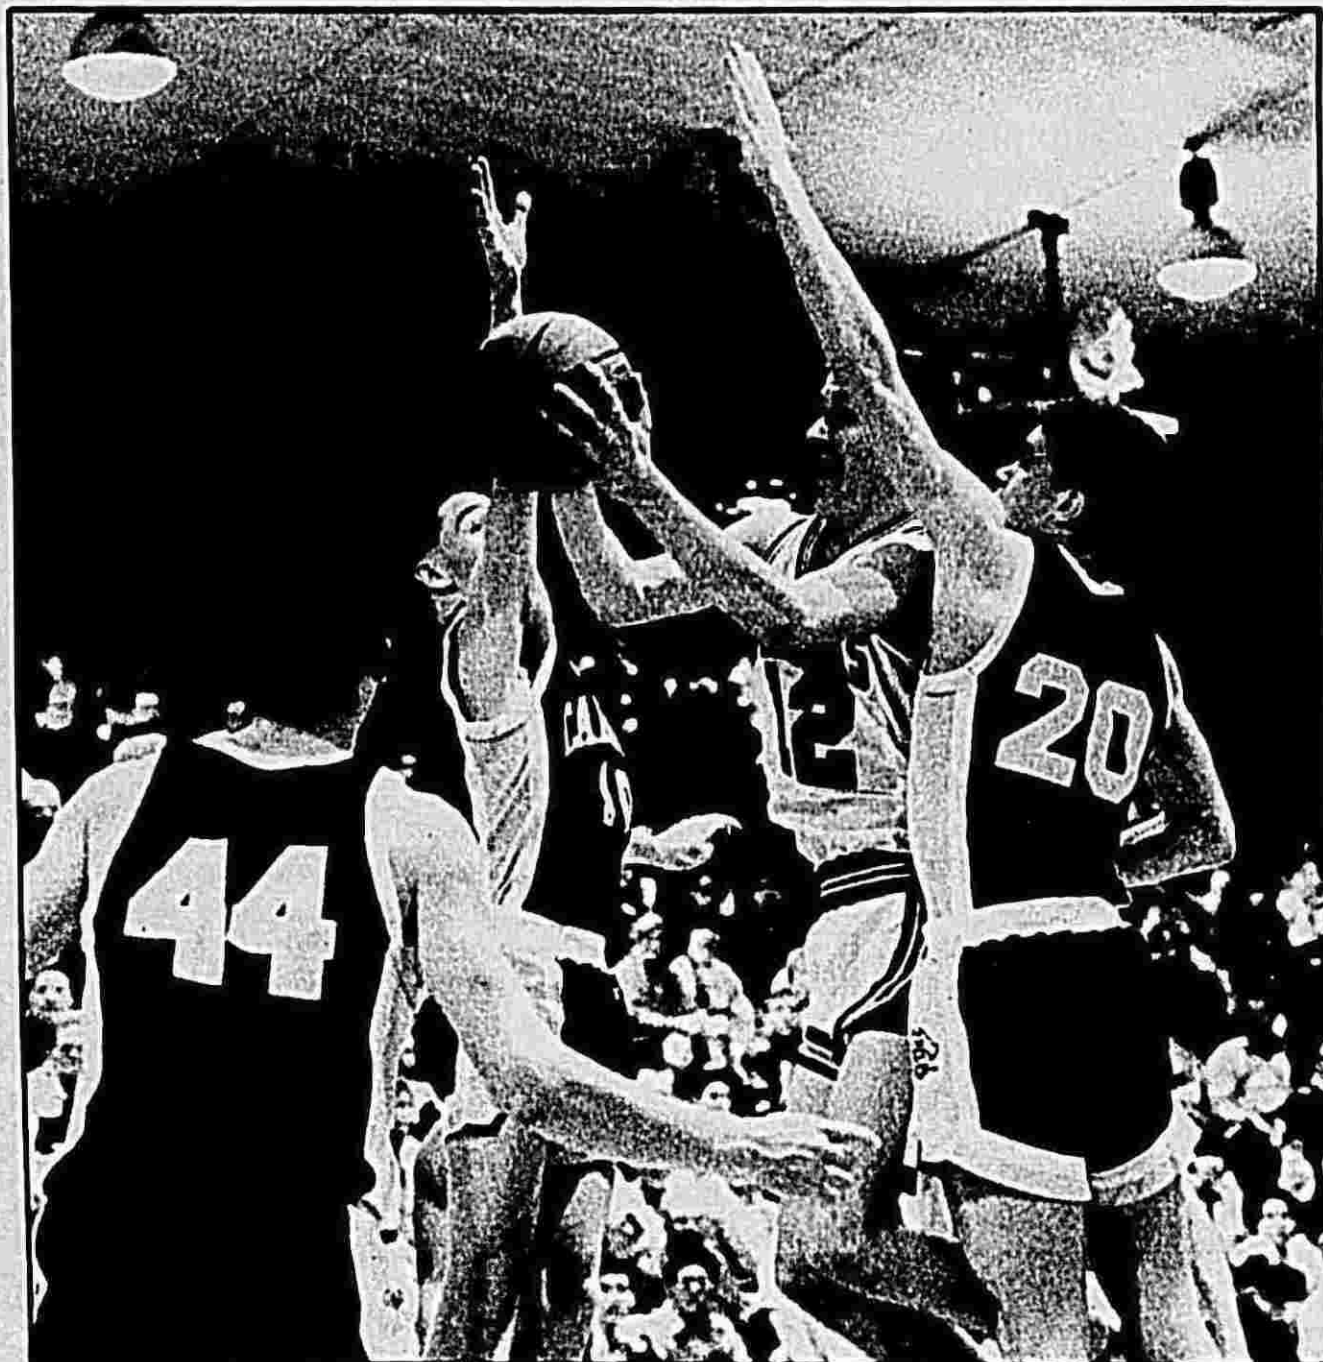

Leading the way was Shawn Stanek, this year's Player-of-the-Year.

Sanders' nephew, Stanek was the point guard who was the glue for the NSC champs. "We are really pleased with what he did," Sanders said. He averaged 8.6 assists a game and four steals," Sanders said.

Stanek and the Wildcats had some exciting finishes in 1989-90, a double overtime win over Warren stands out. The Wildcats were ranked in the top 20 but then had mid-season losses to Lake Forest and Stevenson.

"Over Christmas time we played pretty well but then we had a lull. The losses to Stevenson and Lake Forest got us focused in," Sanders said.

Stanek breaks through

Plan fishing seminar

Spence Petros is a managing editor of Fishing Facts magazine, a full-time position he's held for nearly 18 years. He is also a pro-staff member of the Lindy-Little Joe, Berkley, Wille Prods., S.C. Johnson (Off Products), Zebco/Quantum, and Babe Winkelman Productions fishing teams. He relies on over 40 years of fishing experience when he's on the water, or when teaching others to catch more fish through seminars, in-store promotions, club talks, fishing schools, or the over forty TV shows in which he's appeared.

Spence combines unique skills which have made him one of the top "fishermen/teachers" in the country. Not only is he a hard-charging, innovative angler who can fish with the best of them, but he is able to effectively communicate with other anglers to teach and share fish-catching information.

Although Spence has fished in waters from the Arctic Circle to South America, most of the time you find him pursuing muskies, pike, bass, walleyes, trout, salmon and panfish throughout the Midwest. He is a versatile angler, highly skilled in almost all forms of lure and live-bait fishing--and one who can consistently catch just about any fish in fresh water.

In 1989 Spence was inducted into the National Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame. He was also profiled as one of the "Living Legends of America Sportfishing" in Larry Columbo's 1986 book. During July of 1990 Spence joins the ESPN cable networks outdoor show lineup with a new nationally aired show that he co-hosts and that appears weekly called "The Outdoor Writers." He will be appearing at 772 E. Rollins Rd., Round Lake Beach from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, March 28.

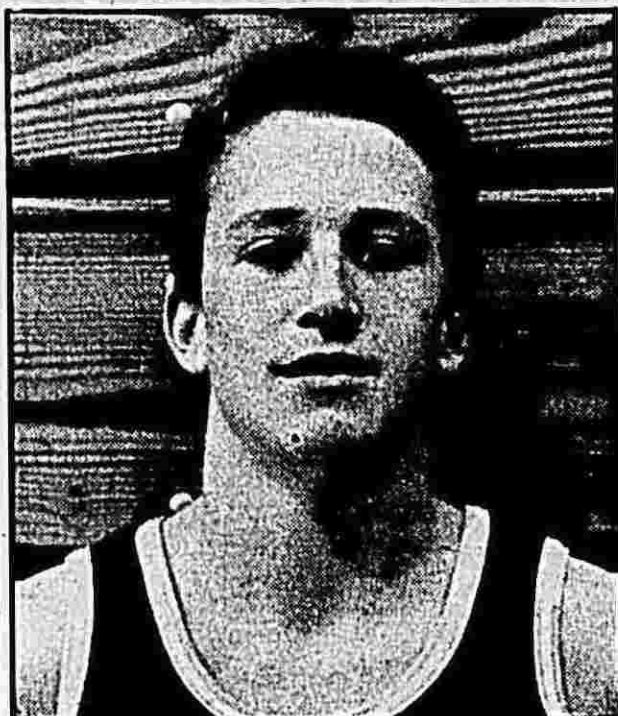

1989-90 all-area team features strong shooters

It is a basketball team coaches probably would refrain scheduling a two-game series with.

Although it exists only on paper, this year's all-Lakeland Newspapers basketball team offers something for everyone: some youth, some experience, some inside shooting, some outside shooting.

While Shawn Stanek was named this year's Player-Of-The-Year for 1989-90, the 10-player team consists of representatives from both Lake County and McHenry County teams with special mentions as well.

A look at this year's team:

Shawn Harlan

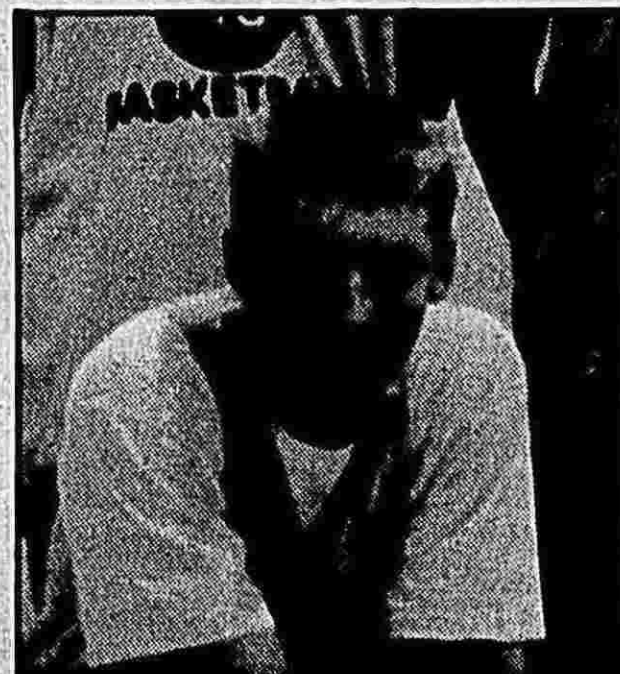

Shawn Harlan: A Mundelein senior, Harlan scored 18.2 points a game, had 476 total points and 62 three-pointers.

Coach Dennis Kessel said Harlan's combination of being a good post-up player and able to make the outside shot made him a force which opposing forces geared their defenses for.

Chris Coleman

Chris Coleman: The youngest player selected for the team, Coleman is a sophomore and was a major force in the Pats' inside game.

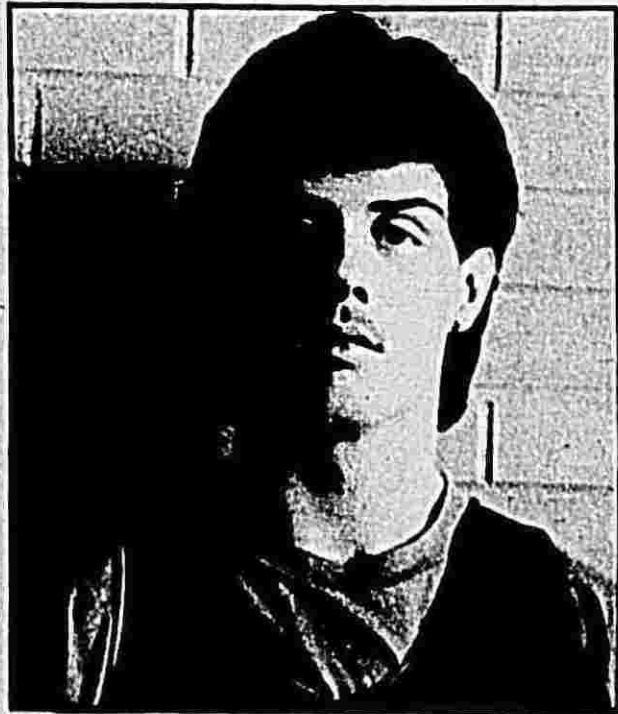

Dave Spiller

Dave Spiller: Spiller, a sharp-shooter from Warren, was Warren's answer to Harlan, a sharp-shooter from three-point range. He shared team Most Valuable Player honors with Dave Huffhines and Mark Sasser.

"Dave has a lot of good athletic skills. He does a lot of nice things," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said.

Scott Hall: Hall missed the mid-season because of an injury, but still managed 10.7 points and seven rebounds a game. The Round Lake standout shot 78 percent from the free-throw line.

Scott Hall

"He came back and played well considering he missed seven conference games. He is a real coachable kid and is a real good shooter for his size (6-6)," Round Lake Coach Bob Ward said.

Matt Pelland: leading Antioch in several categories, the senior had 14 points and 14.4 rebounds a game. Antioch won five of the last six games at the end of the season and won its regional before falling at Fremd. In addition to the points and rebounds, Pelland had 68 steals and recoveries.

"Matt is very active on defense. He has a nose for the loose ball. His defense has improved tremendously, especially this year," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

The second team could be a formidable one as well. It includes Johnsbury hot-shooting Eric Toussaint; Sean Ryan, who was major force in the inside for Carmel; Dion Niemo, who overcame a broken nose to lead Wauconda; and Lake Zurich's Eric Kraus.

Kraus, a junior, took over for the Bears in the second half of the season.

Honorable mention players who will stand out when the 1989-90 is remembered include Richmond-Burton's Roger Hauri, Wilmet's Luke Reigel, Warren's Dave Huffhines, North Chicago's Jermaine Garrett and Round Lake's Wally Illg.

List all-academic teams for NWSC winter sports

Northwest Suburban Conference has announced its all-academic winter sports teams in various sports for the 1989-90 school year.

A total of 153 students were honored in boys basketball, girls basketball, wrestling, bowling and gymnastics.

Some 21 students had grade point averages at or above a 4.0 or 5.0. A breakdown showed 10 were girls basketball players, four were boys basketball players, wrestling had three representatives and gymnastics and cheerleading had two representatives each.

County races wins award from runners' group

Lake County Races won "Large Race of the Year" for 1989, presented by the Chicago Area Runners Assn. Competitors included the Old Style Marathon, Chicago Distance Classic, Park Forest Scenic 10, Shamrock Shuffle and Manufacturer's Hanover Corporate Challenge.

Lake County Races received this award in 1981 and 1985. Their success can be attributed to the winning combination of local communities and local businesses. Lake County Races runs through eight communities, plus Great Lakes Naval Air Base and Fort Sheridan. These communities include: Zion, Beach Park, Waukegan, North Chicago, Lake Bluff, Lake Forest, Highland Park. The race finishes at Ravinia Park, the summer home of the Chicago Symphony.

Major and long time sponsors of the event include Abbott, Bank of Waukegan, First Midwest Bank, Highland Park Hospital, Victory Hospital, St. Therese Hospital, PPC Industries, Decker Law Offices.

Each of these communities and organizations have contributed financially and with volunteer time to the success of the Lake County Races.

Since 1981, the Lake

County Races have raised over $150,000 for various charities. Currently, the Lake County Races will be donating a portion of their proceeds to the Special Olympics Program of Lake County and to Glenkirk.

Lake County Races will be celebrating its 10th year on April 29. Races from the Highland Park Hospital 3.5 mile walk to the Marathon distance (26.2 miles) are scheduled.

Foss overcomes injury, nets 10 in season finale

STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers
happened with less than minute remaining in the half.

Northern Illinois University woman's basketball player Lisa Foss ready to drive the line against Purdue in second round of the AA women's tournament.

Foss dribbled the ball with usual skill, coming ever closer to the basket. Then she ran into an immovable object, a Purdue defender.

Foss crashed to the floor in Mackey Arena, her left shoulder in sharp pain.
Trainers put ice on the injury immediately, but the damage had been done. Foss could come back for the second half, but somehow she scored 10 points in NIU's season-ending 86-81
loss at the hands of Purdue
in West Lafayette, Ind.

"It popped in and out. If anyone who has ever seen her play knows what she feels like. It was not like she was not getting any shots. If you have ever seen the movie 'Lethal Weapon Part II' first thing that popped into my mind was that guy's shoulder," NIU

Coach Jane Albright said.

The Huskies came into the contest rated No. 5 to Purdue's No. 4 in the Midwest region. Purdue
advanced to face national powerhouse Louisiana Tech.

Rebounding and defense
teamed up to stop the Huskies, who started the tournament as the nation's highest scoring offense.

Purdue hit almost everything it put up from short range, shooting almost 76 percent in the second half. NIU, the North Star Conference champs, shot 42 percent in the second 20 minutes. In rebounding, the Boilermakers held a 39-29
edge in the final stats, but led 26-14 at halftime.

"I thought we would have to out-rebound them to beat them," Albright said.
"Being down by one point
(40-39) at halftime was a real God-send.

Tammy Hinchee, a senior,
led NIU with 28 points and Carl Owens had 25.

Purdue Coach Lin Dunn,
on the other hand, cited balance as a key to the Boilers' success. Purdue had four double figure scorers.
Jody Holmes' 26 points was complimented well by MaChelle Joseph's 23 points, 12 by Donna Gill
and 15 from Rhonda
Mateen.

"We felt it would be this type of game. They battled us tough until the end,"
Dunn said.

NIU rallied from six down to tie Purdue at 76-76. Two

Hinchee free throws tied it at 80-80 with 2:05 left. But senior Owens, normally a 71 percent shooter heading into the tournament, missed a free throw with 2:05 left. Purdue's home fans sensed the kill.

Owens tried to make up for the mistake by grabbing
a loose ball a few seconds late.

Getting past defense

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director

Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Can color blindness be corrected?

ANSWER: It depends on the cause of the problem. There are two types of color blindness, hereditary and non-hereditary. Both involve elements in the back of the eye called rods and cones. Rods are responsible for night vision and seeing in dim conditions. The three types of cones--red, blue and green--are responsible for seeing in daylight and bright light and for color vision. Heredity controls each cone pigment and can alter or eliminate one of them, thereby affecting color perception.

This hereditary color blindness affects about eight percent of men and less than one percent of degree of women from birth. There is no way to correct it.

For other people, eye problems occurring later in life, such as cataracts or retinal and optic nerve disease, can cause diminished color vision. If this occurs, an ophthalmologist should be consulted immediately. An eye examination can determine the problem so corrective treatment can be considered.

Injuries slow gymnasts as new season begins

Mundelein High School's gymnastics team will be looking for improved individual performances when the Mustangs host the annual Forech Open March 24 and the Lake Park Invitational the day before.

The Mustangs, the defending state champions, finished second among three teams in a meet at MHS Saturday. Glenbrook North won the meet with 114.06 points, MHS was second at 102.3 and Elgin Larkin was third at 94.3 points.

Highlights for the Mustangs included the top two finishes in the all around as junior Jason Kovack was first and senior James Gonzalez was second. Junior Henry Vega was first on the pommel horse with a 7.0.

Head Coach Doug Foersch said the team should be in good shape once it gets over early-season injuries. Senior T.J. Dortch and Jeff Trunbull were both out of the lineup Saturday because of nagging injuries.

Earlier, Mundelein fell to a powerful Hersey squad 140.65-124.3. MHS did top Willowbrook and Schaumburg in a March 6 meet.

"We have everything we need besides health," Foersch said.

Foersch predicted another Mustang team, Rolling Meadows and Conant to be the top teams early in the season. But if the Mustangs get back to full speed, they hope to get back to state contention level.

Select Patriots' Blond

Samantha Blond has been selected as a member of the Sport For Understanding Tennis team traveling to Australia this summer. The 16-year-old sophomore attends Adlai Stevenson High School.

Blond is part of a 12-member tennis team that will spend one month playing tennis and making friends in Sydney, Australia. The other members of the team were selected from throughout the United States.

Sport For Understanding participants and their volunteer coaches live with host families during their stay, experiencing the country's life firsthand while enhancing their sport skills. Sport participation, training and competition, is usually scheduled daily; the remaining time is spent sightseeing and with the host families.

This summer, SFU will organize some 70 teams in more than 20 different sports to travel abroad to destinations in Europe, Asia, the Pacific and the Soviet Union. To qualify, players must be ages 14 to 19, be active in their chosen sport, and have a GPA of at least 2.0. The SFU program is for athletes of average or better skills and focuses on using sport as a vehicle for cultural learning. The program emphasizes sportsmanship and host family living.

SFU is a program of Youth For Understanding, Inc., one of the largest non-profit international student exchange organizations.

YFU has exchanged more than 130,000 students in the last 36 years and maintains 10 offices in the U.S. and 26 countries around the world.

Board sets committees to examine future needs

Millburn Dist. 24 Board of Education will be looking to the district's future needs in various committees.

Board of Education President Jeff Zaloudek suggested the committees at a board meeting Monday night.

The entire board will be a planning committee of the whole which will discuss the future of needs of the district. Other committees include village liason, building and site with a builder negotiation subcommittee and community involvement.

Board member Pat Durham will be on the negotiation committee.

Tom Erlenborn and Cindy Rose on the community involvement committee and Ray Boller on the building and site committee.

Zaloudek said the committees will be meeting on non-board meeting nights.

In regular business at the meetings, the board took actions regarding school buses.

A resolution was passed regarding a five-year bus-lease purchase agreement. The lease will be good for six buses for the next five years.

Supt. James Blockinger said the "bus drivers are concerned about the condition of the buses."

The agreement will take effect in the 1990-91 school year.

Also, the board decided to place its buses at Antioch Elementary School complex.

The board discussed a situation involving two parents who did not pay fees. "We are fortunate to have only two," Blockinger said.

The board approved a request from the Millburn Church April 29.

In financial matters, the board decided to reopen the site and construction fund because it is receiving new donations from builders.

Principal Gary Cybul suggested a change in the trip to Springfield. Cybul suggested and the board agreed that because of growing numbers, the trip be limited to eighth graders in the future.

Cybul also noted the school's science fair is coming up April 11. The public will be able to view projects from 7 to 9 p.m. Some 100 projects are expected to be entered. Teacher Penny LeFavour is coordinating the science fair.

Cybul told the board of several contributions made by the school's Parent-Teacher Organization. These include: buying shades, a new freezer, four reading kits, updating the sound system, supplying buttons for "growing up well" programs and donated funds for books for the library, among others.

In curriculum matters, the board decided on science books for the next year.

Addison-Wesley series will be used for second grade, sixth and seventh grade will use Holt and D.C. Heath will be used in eighth grade.

The Village of Antioch will be flushing fire hydrants between April 1 and April 30, 1990. Flushing will occur between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Signs will be posted in each area before flushing begins. It is advised that no laundry be done between these hours when flushing occurs.

Also it is advised that water be visually tested for rust before doing laundry. For information, call 395-1881.

Cut-through traffic reason for petitions

Residents of Fairlawn and Crestfield Aves. in Libertyville have submitted petition with 141 signatures asking the village to restrict through traffic on their residential streets.

Increased amounts of traffic use the streets to cut across the southern section of Libertyville from Butter-

field Rd. to Milwaukee Ave.

Joseph Russo, of 1037
Crestfield Ave., who presented the petitions to the village board this week, said residents were assured in 1973 that traffic would not become a problem when Condell changed its entrance to Garfield Ave.

A speed check on Aug.
10 last year showed 1,313
vehicle trips in a 24-hour period. Russo said this was overwhelming for a street with homes, children and in need of safety.

Village Administrator
Allen Schertz said the state must be contacted about putting signs on Butterfield
Rd. since it is a state-maintained highway.

Makowski pleads guilty in Round Lake murder

By Pat Christensen
Lakeland Newspapers

Round Lake resident Walter Makowski entered a guilty plea to the murder of an 88-year old Round Lake woman, Esther Hanson, of 24920 W. Orchard Place, was murdered during a robbery on Feb 27, 1989.

A second defendant in the case, John Grogan, 16, of Fox Lake, pled guilty to first-degree murder in October. Assistant State's Attorney, Jeffrey Pavletic said that Grogan will receive a lighter sentence than Makowski in return for his co-operation with the State's Attorney's office. Grogan's sentence is expected to be "no more than 45 years" according to Pavletic, which would make him eligible for parole in 22 and a half years.

Makowski is expected to be sentenced to anywhere from 65 years to natural life, which carries no possibility of parole.

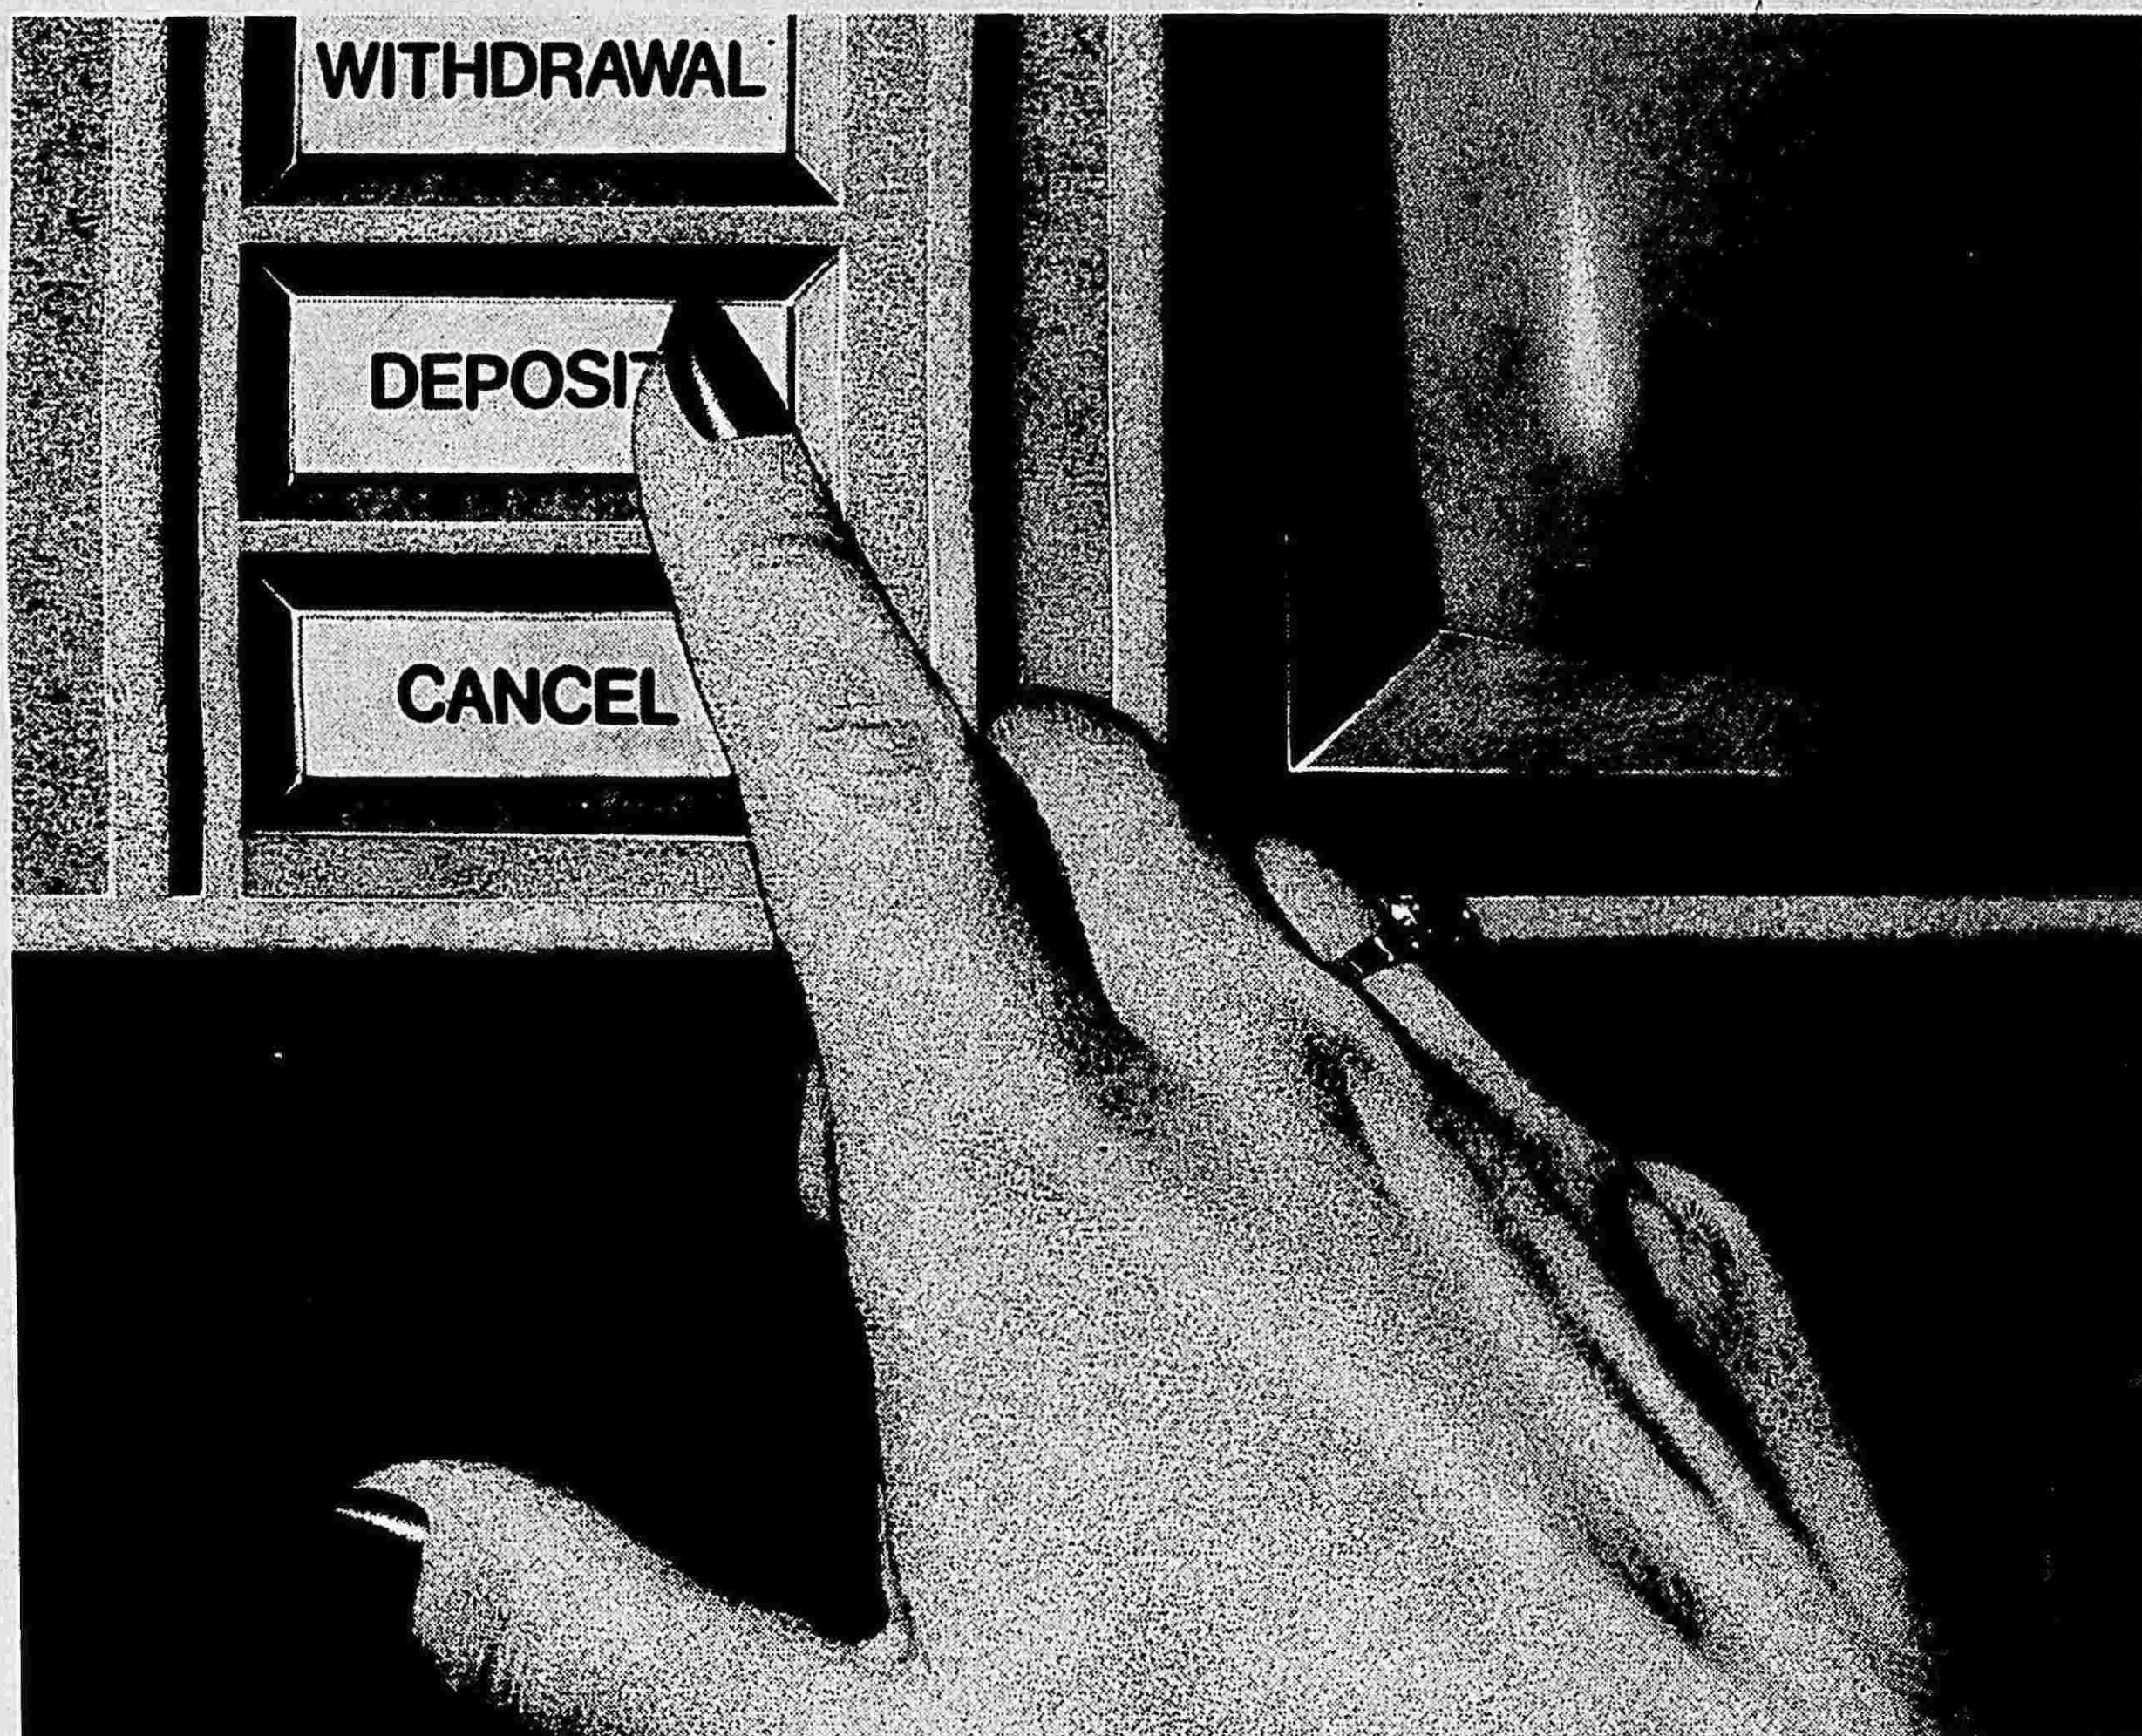

Makowski and Grogan entered the Hanson residence intending to commit robbery, when Hanson got up from watching television and started down the hall toward the kitchen. Pavletic said that Makowski then clubbed the elderly woman with a tire iron "because he thought she knew they were in the house and was going to call the police from the kitchen."

Pavletic said that Makowski and Grogan did take five dollars from Grogan's purse and "there are indications that a ring was taken as well, but that has not yet been found."

The 20 year old Makowski, who lives at 322 Hawthorn Dr. in Round Lake Beach.

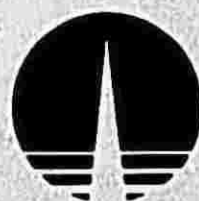

Where in the Round Lake area can you erase your monthly checking charges with a push of a button?

Grayslake High may reorganize

Grayslake Community High School's Board of Education was expected to consider a reduction in force resolution at its board meeting Thursday.

Board President Carole Dewar said some 25 leadership positions, 22 classified positions and six teachers would be affected. Dewar said the timing of the reduction in force is necessary because staff must be notified within 60 days of the end of the school year.

Dewar said Supt. Dr. Ted Van Dorn is reorganizing the school structure by combining some departments.

"We have a general idea," Dewar said of the possible new lineup of departments.

Dewar said the leadership positions which could be RIFFED does not mean those people would lose teaching positions. Those affected could include some of the top leaders in the Grayslake Education Assn., which is the union negotiating a new contract with the board.

The idea of subcontracting for transportation has already met with opposition from the school's bus drivers. "Just Say No to subcontracting" signs appear on some cars in the high school's parking lot.

John MacDonald,

president of the GEA, said if the RIFs would change the working conditions, then the union would seek to have that as a negotiation item.

"We believe some of the RIFs are inappropriate at this time," he said.

MacDonald said he, personally, and the union, are opposed to subcontracting for bus service.

District 96 students will take active role in Earth Day week

The students and staff of Kildeer School Dist. 96 are taking an active role in the Earth Day activities planned for the week of April 22. Elissa Bogenschutz, Lindsey Kaplan, Dana Lambert, and Tami Kiehn, sixth grade students from Twin Groves Junior High, will be attending a Buffalo Grove Village board meeting on Monday, April 2, along with their science teacher Beverly Sussman, to request that the village officially proclaim April 22 as Earth Day in the village. A group of seven student government representatives from Twin Groves will be performing a play about conservation and environmental awareness for elementary students at Prairie and Kildeer Schools featuring "Captain Recycle and his sidekick 'Tin Can.'" All Twin Grove students will be working on other environmental projects to commemorate Earth Day and to promote environmental awareness as well, such as participating in a pop can collection recycling drive, bringing paper instead of plastic lunch bags, and using recyclable thin paper plates for the school's Pizza Day. The hope is that by practicing recycling and conservation efforts, long term good habits may be formed.

At Willow Grove School, the fourth grade classes will be spearheading a school-wide recycling drive on Friday, April 20. The students are accumulating a great deal of knowledge on environmental issues and will be making presentations to other Willow Grove classrooms and making and displaying posters throughout the school. The fourth grade students at Kildeer School will be studying the ecosystem and its protection on a field trip to the Reed-Turner Woods in spring.

Other events designed to complement the Earth Day 1990 theme in Dist. 96 include Prairie, Kildeer and Willow Grove

Schools taking a trip to George Williams College in Wisconsin where students and staff study conservation and environmental issues. They participate in environmental education classes and simulation games as well. During the past year, a number of environmental and ecological projects have already been undertaken including: at Kildeer School, a recycling program and the donation of a tree to a school in South Carolina whose wooded surroundings were destroyed by Hurricane Hugo; and at Willow Grove School, the adoption of a rhinoceros from the Lincoln Park Zoo in hopes of helping to save the endangered rhino species.

Affordable housing development underway

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

A break through in the almost non-existent affordable housing market in Lake County is being provided by a new company that will build homes in North Chicago.

Dugdale Fields Development Corp. was formed to build 141 single family detached homes on urban development land formerly owned by the City of North Chicago.

One of the principals in the company is Jack Finkel of Gurnee, president, who is well known in building circles for a 10-year stint beginning in 1960 as Gurnee building commissioner. Finkel also served as building commissioner of Libertyville from 1978 to 1983.

"This time I'm on the other side of the table," smiles Finkel, whose associates in Dugdale Fields are Irv Geisler of Barrington and Atty. Bill Weier of Elgin.

"There's a great need for affordable housing; homes for young couples, senior citizens and low income families. We look on all of Lake County as our market," remarked Finkel.

In talking about the project at a meeting of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce, Finkel lauded the cooperation of the Bank of Northern Illinois for providing financing for start up phases which are now in progress.

Joe Zoller of Arlington Hts., a veteran in all phases of development, will supervise construction. The firm has engaged Paul May & Sons of Spring Grove as general contractor. May has extensive experience in erection of manufactured homes.

Zoller reported that Dugdale Fields will offer six models manufactured by Wausau Homes.

"We're short-cutting construction time and passing on the savings," Zoller remarked. With foundations in place, homes will be put up and enclosed in two days. Two to three weeks will be provided for finishing work. Actual construction on the first phase of 18 homes is expected to start in 90 days.

A typical lot in Dugdale Fields will be 65 x 130 feet. The project was designed for lots of 8,000 square feet or larger, according to Finkel.

Care will be taken so similar models are not located next to each other. "We want to avoid the monotony factor," stressed Zoller.

Models start at $89,980 and go up to $118,750. All homes will be built on foundations with crawl space. Finished lower levels on tri-level models will cost more. Upgrades include fireplaces, exterior brick, luxury doors, skylights, stone veneer and electronics.

Sales will be handled by broker owner Gwen Broughton of Re/Max Waukegan.

Home payments hit $920 per month

According to the annual Chicago Title and Trust Co. 1989 Homebuyers Survey, "Who's Buying Houses in America," those purchasing a home last year paid an average of $138,200 for a single-family dwelling. First-time buyers paid $114,700 while repeat buyers averages $149,100.

1989 buyers are now working to meet an average of $920 in monthly payments.

In the Chicago area, 1989 first-time home buyers had to save for 2.6 years in order to have the money for their down payments.
